INDIA AND CHINA AGREE TO RESUME KAILASH MANSAROVAR YATRA

Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri, who is in Beijing on a two-day visit, held wide-ranging talks with Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi on Monday

DIRECT FLIGHT SERVICES TO BE RESTARTED

During their talks, the two sides decided to resume the Kailash Mansarovar Yatra in the summer of this year. "The relevant mechanism will discuss the modalities for doing so as per existing agreements," a statement by the Ministry of External Affairs said. They also agreed in principle to resume direct air services between the two countries

BOTH SIDES SHOULD SEIZE OPPORTUNITY: WANG

Waqf Bill gets JPC nod with 14 amendments

Report expected to be tabled in Parliament ahead of February 5 Delhi assembly polls

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

A Joint Parliamentary Committee (JPC) scrutinising the contentious Waqf (Amendment) Bill approved it on Monday, setting the tone for its tabling for discussion and passage during the forthcoming Budget session of Parliament.

While the panel led by BJP MP Jagadambika Pal adopted 14 amendments suggested by the ruling NDA members, all those proposed by the Opposition were rejected 10:16 by voice vote. The bill, introduced during the Monsoon session, had proposed 44 amendments to the Waqf Act, 1995.

While the Opposition was up in arms against the panel chairman for allegedly breaking rules and bulldozing the proceedings, Pal said that the amendments were put to vote in a democratic manner. However, DMK MP A Raja said, "The chairman himself called the names of the mover of the amendments (given by us) and he himself moved the amendments on our behalf and conducted the head count. And he announced the rejection of our amendments. We will move the Supreme Court if it becomes a bill."

Speaking to reporters after the meeting, Pal said one of the alterations aims to empower the state government to appoint an officer to determine whether a property is Waqf or not — instead of the District Collector who was given absolute powers to do so in the proposed bill. In the Waqf Act 1995, that power is vested in survey commissioners and additional commissioners.

The panel also approved changes to another contentious provision that mandated the inclusion of two non-Muslim members in the Central Waqf Council and state Waqf Boards. It dropped the term mandatory and proposed changes in the composition of the Waqf Board by increasing it to three members, including a scholar.

Another change was on the 'Waqf by user' provision. While the bill knocked it off entirely, the panel approved amendments that said the the 'Waqf by user' law will not apply retrospectively, so long as the property is registered. However, Congress MP and JPC member Imran Masood contested the proposal saying 90% of Waqf properties are not registered. Speaking to this newspaper, Masood accused the government of trying to create unrest by bringing in the new bill.

WHAT IS NEW

Right to appoint officer to determine whether a property is Waqf or not given to the state govt instead of the District Collector in proposed bill

Mandatory clause to include 2 non-Muslims in Central Waqf Council and state Waqf Boards dropped. Proposes change in the composition of the Waqf Board by increasing it to three members, including a scholar

WHAT NEXT

JPC will circulate final draft among the members on Tuesday

It will meet on January 29 to adopt the report

Report to be submitted to LS Speaker on January 31 and tabled in Parliament before Feb 5 Delhi polls

FETING NEW IDEAS, OLD WISDOM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

IMPACTFUL conversations and thought-provoking debates marked the 13th edition of the ThinkEdu Conclave, presented by SASTRA University, held at ITC Grand Chola in Chennai on Monday. A stellar lineup of speakers, from policymakers to academicians, reflected on the contemporary challenges and opportunities in education and beyond.

The day began with a Saraswati Vandana by the students of MOP Vaishnav College for Women, followed by ceremonial lighting of lamp. In his welcome address, Prabhu Chawla, editorial director of The New Indian Express, highlighted the legacy of ThinkEdu as India's leading education conclave, underscoring its commitment to fostering dialogue between modernity and traditional knowledge. Prabhu Chawla also cautioned against the over-reliance on artificial intelligence (AI), emphasising the importance of balancing progress with values.

SASTRA PRESENTS THE NEW INDIAN EXPRESS THINKEDU CONCLAVE

The inaugural session featured Justice V Ramasubramanian, Chairperson of the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC), who tackled the complex relationship between rights, duties, and the Indian soul. Moderated by Dinamani editor K Vaidiyanathan, Justice Ramasubramanian highlighted India's diversity as both a strength and challenge.

He underscored the need to balance rights with duties to build a just society. He raised concerns about the delay by the Global Alliance of National Human Rights Institutions (GANHRI) in according accreditation to the NHRC.

Following this, Shashi Tharoor, Member of Parliament, delved into India's parliamentary proceedings. In a session moderated by senior journalist Kaveree Bamzai, Tharoor decried the rising animosity between the government and opposition, emphasising the need to restore trust and communication in Parliament.

Dr Ujwala Chakradeo, Vice-Chancellor of SNDT Women's University, and Prof Basuthkar J Rao, Vice-Chancellor of the University of Hyderabad, shared insights into making campuses more inclusive in the session titled, "A Campus for Everyone: Making Higher Education Inclusive."

Prof Mamidala Jagadesh Kumar, UGC Chairman, spoke on the need to rebuild India's examination system in his session on "Testing Times." Moderated by Prof S Vaidhyasubramaniam, Kumar proposed adaptive testing models and emphasised aligning entrance exams with school curricula to reduce the reliance on coaching centres. In a forward-looking session on AI, Shekar Nair, Co-founder of Upekkha, tackled the hype and reality of AI. Nair emphasised the need to adapt to AI-driven changes in the workplace. Those who fail to embrace AI risk being replaced by it, he said.

Politics, culture, aspiration

The afternoon sessions shifted focus to political and cultural narratives. In "The Culture Project: Values for the Viksit Bharatiya," Mukunda CR, joint general secretary of the RSS, advocated for a three-language policy encompassing one's mother tongue, a regional language, and a career language.

MUDA: HC reserves order on petition seeking CBI probe

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TAKING on record the report of the investigation and accompanying documents submitted by the Lokayukta police in a sealed cover on the alleged irregularities in the allotment of 14 compensatory sites to BM Parvathy, wife of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, by the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA), the Karnataka High Court on Monday reserved its judgment on a petition filed by a Mysuru-based social activist seeking to refer the case being probed by the Lokayukta police to CBI.

The court also directed the Lokayukta police not to file the final report of the probe before the Special Court for the trial of criminal cases against sitting and former MPs/MLAs till the pronouncement of the judgment. Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order while reserving the verdict after the conclusion of the marathon hearing on the petition filed by Snehamayi Krishna.

Arguing for the petitioner, senior advocate Maninder Singh contended that the matter is required to be referred to the CBI for impartial probe since the high functionaries of the state are involved. Also, the CM should not function as he is under a cloud over his integrity. Nobody cast doubts over the probe by the Lokayukta police, but it has to go to the CBI in view of administrative and political compulsions on the Lokayukta agency, he argued.

Pointing out that the cabinet note, chief secretary's note and legal opinion are to favour Siddaramaiah in the matter, Singh said that to meet the ends of justice and in the interest of the public, the probe must be handed over to the CBI since there is no possibility of fairness by the state, in view of efforts already made to brush the case under the carpet.

Appearing for Devaraju, who sold the land to CM's brother-in-law Mallikarjuna Swamy, senior advocate Dushyant Dave argued that the petition deserved to be dismissed as the same is gross abuse of process of law, since there is a delay of 20 years. Though the petitioner stated on oath that it requires probe by Lokayukta, which was created by way of statute, he again knocked on the doors of this court for a CBI probe only to embarrass the CM, he alleged. HC stays ED summons to Siddu's wife, min Suresh

IN a relief to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's wife BM Parvathy and Minister for Urban Development and Town Planning Byrathi Suresh, the High Court of Karnataka on Monday stayed the summons issued to them by the Directorate of Enforcement (ED) in connection with the alleged irregularities in allotment of MUDA sites.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the interim order staying the summons till February 10. Summons were issued to Parvathy, one of the accused in the case registered by the Lokayukta police, to appear on Tuesday, and Byrathi Suresh to appear on Monday to record their statements.

The interim order was passed after hearing the petitions filed by Parvathy and Suresh, questioning the legality of the summons issued by the central agency.

Senior counsels Sandesh Chouta and Vikram Huilgol, representing Parvathy, and senior counsel CV Nagesh, representing Suresh, argued that the summons were an offshoot of the order of the special court to register the crime on September 24, 2024. Parvathy is an accused in the predicate offence. P4

2 from Bihar attacked for not speaking Kannada, 3 arrested

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

THREE people have been arrested for allegedly attacking two men from Bihar with a knife for not speaking Kannada at Lakkasandra Extension in Adugodi police limits.

The incident happened last Wednesday and the injured have been identified as MD Hasmath Hussain, 21, and MD Amir, 19, residents of Lakkasandra Extension.

Hussain, a mason, who suffered stab injuries, is undergoing treatment at a private hospital. Amir, an electrician, was discharged after treatment.

The autorickshaw-borne accused, who were drunk, approached Hussain and Amir, seeking directions for an address in Kannada. When Hussain and Amir said they could not speak Kannada, the trio started attacking them. Hussain and Amir, who were with three others, started running.

Hussein, who fell down, was caught by the accused. After assaulting Hussain, one of the accused stabbed him with the knife, the police said. P5

MODI, DON DISCUSS WEST ASIA, UKRAINE

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi and US President Donald Trump discussed a range of issues, including the wars in West Asia and Ukraine, in their first telephonic conversation after the latter was sworn in as the 47th president of the United States. "Delighted to speak with my dear friend President @realDonaldTrump @POTUS," he said. "We are committed to a mutually beneficial and trusted partnership. We will work together for the welfare of our people and towards global peace, prosperity, and security," Modi wrote on X.

Modi congratulated Trump on his "historic second term", the Prime Minister's Office (PMO) said in a statement.

The two leaders discussed various aspects of the wide-ranging bilateral Comprehensive Global Strategic Partnership and measures that could be taken to advance it, including in the areas of technology, trade, investment, energy, and defence, the PMO said in the statement.

They exchanged views on global issues, including the situation in West Asia and Ukraine, and reiterated their commitment to work together to promote global peace, prosperity, and security, it said.

They agreed to remain in touch and meet soon at a mutually convenient date.

PEAK-HOUR TRAFFIC FLATTENS

B'luru sees snarls throughout the day

AKNISREE KARTHIK @ Bengaluru

BENGALURU CITY is witnessing a 'flattening of peak-hour traffic', which is why people are getting stuck on roads even during non-peak hours.

PIC: SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

Spread of business activity across the city, increase in the number of cars and two-wheelers, bus fare hike, haphazard growth of residential areas and employment zones have led to multiple 'origins' and 'destinations', contributing to the flattening of peak period, where traffic congestion is not restricted to peak hours alone anymore, according to experts.

"I usually plan my trip avoiding peak hours so that I don't get stuck in traffic. However, in the past few months, no matter what time I start, except for late nights and early mornings, I am not able to avoid traffic. Commuting in the city has become a headache," Prakash Murugan, a businessman, said. CONTINUED ON P2

Over 27k street vendors to get IDs to run biz

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

OVER 27,000 street vendors will receive identity cards to run their businesses across the eight zones of Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike.

At a meeting at the BBMP head office on Monday, Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said, "The survey of street vendors is being conducted using mobile application, and so far, about 27,655 street vendors have been identified zone-wise. Identity cards and certificates will be distributed and vendors instructed to conduct their business only in designated areas."

The survey of street vendors in BBMP limits is being conducted under the Street Vendors (Protection of Livelihoods and Regulation of Street Trading) Act, 2014, and Karnataka Street Vendors (Protection of Livelihoods, Regulation, and Licensing of Street Trading) Scheme, 2020.

At a meeting with several senior officials, including Special Commissioners Munish Moudgil and KN Harish along with zonal commissioners, implementation of the 'Onti Mane' scheme was also discussed.

Girinath said eligible beneficiaries must be identified promptly among the applications received under the scheme and necessary measures taken to release funds in phases.

FIRs over illegal hoardings

The BBMP chief issued strict instructions to officials to file FIRs against individuals or organisations erecting unauthorized hoardings or advertisements. All BBMP zones must identify unauthorised advertisements and remove them immediately.

City stares at thirsty summer as groundwater levels decline

Experts stress need to halt unscientific drilling of borewells

RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

BENGALURU is at an 'emergency' point in its water crisis, hydrologists say, warning that immediate steps must be taken to avoid further depletion of the city's groundwater.

According to a recent report by the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) and Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB), groundwater levels are expected to start declining in February, and the situation will intensify in March and April.

While the study highlights concerning projections, experts say they are not surprised, as they have been sounding the alarm for years.

Despite forming numerous expert committees and making detailed recommendations, the State Government has failed to take meaningful action.

According to the study, Bengaluru's reliance on borewells is estimated at around 800 million litres per day (MLD), with experts stressing the need to halt unscientific borewell drilling which drains groundwater. They also call for the immediate revival of existing borewells and emphasise the need to implement rainwater harvesting strategies ahead of the monsoon in April and May.

Former Secretary to State Irrigation Department and water expert Captain S Raja Rao highlighted the dependence of southern states, including Karnataka, on rainwater and pointed out that the state has been extracting groundwater at unsustainable levels — extracting far more than what has been recharged. Despite years of recommendations and warnings — even from a time when water scarcity was less severe — the State Government has failed to address these urgent concerns, said Captain Raja Rao, , terming the situation a "state of emergency".

GROUNDWATER LEVELS ARE PROJECTED TO DECLINE IN

Central Bengaluru: 5 metres
CMC areas: 10-15 metres
110 villages: 20-25 metres

Major critical wards (total 80)
Jakkur, Nagavara, Hebbal, Horamavu, Laggere, Gandhinagar, Binnipete, Shivajinagar, Konankunte, Ejipura and Bommanahalli

"Why are the authorities who are supposed to control and regulate groundwater levels not taking this issue seriously? Why are corrective measures still not in place?" he wondered, adding that the negligence is worsening an already dire situation.

He lamented that even previously, it was suggested that drains be built at cross roads and shallow borewells be dug specifically for rainwater collection, but these recommendations were never acted upon.

"It is still not too late to implement these solutions. Digging shallow borewells — without allowing sewage contamination and creating proper drainage systems — can help replenish depleting groundwater levels," he added. Experts also stress that instead of focusing on solutions that can recharge groundwater, the government is spending resources on projects like white topping of roads.

"While white topping may improve the road surface, it actually makes things worse for water management. These concrete roads stop rainwater from soaking into the ground, making the groundwater problem even worse," they said.

Water conservation expert Vishwanath Srikantaiah stressed that the government must focus on recharging borewells. He explained that borewells often draw groundwater, which is not replenished quickly enough owing to overuse and poor recharge practices. "By collecting rainwater during the monsoon and directing it into borewells, groundwater levels can be restored. This can maintain a steady water supply," he said.

Srikantaiah also suggested filling lakes with treated wastewater as many lakes have dried up, but they can be revived by using properly treated wastewater, he said.

"This approach not only helps in replenishing water bodies, but also ensures that rainwater is stored effectively during the monsoon. Treated water can support ecosystems, recharge groundwater, and even be used for non-potable purposes," he added.

Two years after being notified, BMLTA Act remains on paper

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

TWO years after the Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transport Authority (BMLTA) Act 2023 was notified, the rules are yet to be framed and committee members have not been appointed.

Experts and urban planners pointed out that the government does not seem to be keen on implementing it. "This is the reason why Bengaluru is in a mess. There is no coordination among agencies, there is no planning or vision for Bengaluru's growth," said an urban planner working with the government.

"Section 4 of the BMLTA Act requires the government to set up the BMLTA within six months of the law being notified. The law was notified in January 2023 and there's still no BMLTA set up. A gazette notification was required to be issued within six months of the law being passed, but this has not been done. This is in complete derogation of the provisions of the BMLTA Act," said Alok Prasanna Kumar, cofounder Vidhi Centre for Legal Policy.

The Bill 29/2022 was passed when BJP's Basavaraj Bommai was the chief minister. The Act was first published in the Karnataka Gazette Extra-ordinary on January 12, 2023. The Act received the Governor's assent on January 11, 2023.

Urban mobility expert from IISc Prof Ashish Verma said there is no clear transparent structure. The BMLTA is passed for having a holistic structure for the management of Bengaluru, but the government does not seem interested in implementing it. The Directorate of Urban Land Transport (DULT) Commissioner is the BMLTA secretary, but nothing has been cleared so far, he said.

Experts also pointed out that the government has not appointed the committee members for the BMLTA's functioning. Urban affairs expert Srinivas Alavilli said the BMLTA should measure data, see how and what policies need to be made, oversee planning and ensure coordination. The Chennai Unified Metropolitan Transport Authority is an example which is doing well.

However, officials do not see any requirement for it. Urban Development Department official said, "So far things have worked without BMLTA, it can continue further too. The moment the law is passed, it should come into effect. But in this case, no time line was fixed for its formation."

'In 10 years, number of cars, two-wheelers doubled in city'

GIVING an example of Mumbai, mobility expert from IISc Ashish Verma said, "Mumbai used to witness directional movement of traffic, with vehicles headed from North Mumbai to South Mumbai in the morning and in the reverse direction in the evening. Traffic was only in the mornings and evenings. But now, things have changed and Mumbai is seeing traffic congestion throughout the day. The same is being witnessed in Bengaluru."

Years ago, traffic used to be at its peak between 8.30am and10am, and 5.30pm and 8pm in Bengaluru with most vehicles entering the Central Business District (CBD). Apart from peak hours, travelling to any part of the city used to be quick and easy. However, now at any given time, people are stuck in traffic and take more time to reach their destinations," Verma said. In 10 years, the number of cars and two-wheelers doubled in Bengaluru, whereas buses have not been added in proportion to the growing population. With not many buses, people opt for personal vehicles, said Vinay Srinivasa, a member of Bengaluru Bus Prayanikara Vedike, a bus passengers' forum.

Suggesting measures, Verma and Srinivasa said the government is encouraging private transport through its road infrastructure projects and recent bus fare hike. It has not done much to discourage private vehicles by levying congestion charges and making parking fees mandatory.

Dr Vijayalakshmi — A story of grit & determination

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI
@Kalaburagi

POVERTY and illiteracy of her parents did not stop her from ascending to the top from the depths. Oncologist Dr Vijayalakshmi Deshmane, born at Kobal village of Jewargi taluk (Kalaburagi district), took poverty and illiteracy of her parents as a challenge and reached the peak of her career which got her the recognition of Padma Shri award that was announced on Sunday.

Speaking exclusively to The New Indian Express on Monday, Dr Deshmane said she was conferred with the prestigious Rajyotsava Award in 2004. She is probably the first person from the cobbler community from Kalaburagi district to receive Padma Shri. The support of her parents, her hard work and the grace of Lord Krishna showed her the path, she said. "My parents, though illiterate, had decided to provide a good education to their children. Of eight of us, six are PhD holders and we have served in different universities. I am the eldest and have completed MBBS and MS. My brother is a practising advocate in Kalaburagi," she said.

Dr Deshmane was born in 1955. Her father Babu Rao Deshmane was a labourer at MSK Mill. Her mother Ratnamma was a vegetable seller who used to sell vegetables house to house in the morning and later sat selling her wares in Gazipura area.

Dr Deshmane said she studied up to seventh standard at Chakkargatta School in Gazipura and high school at Gangambika High School in Kannada medium. Even as she was studying, she would help her mother sell vegetables, she says proudly.

'Mother sold mangalsutra'

"My father who was a labourer used to be treated at the ESI Hospital whenever he fell sick. From the days when I was in fifth standard, till I completed my MBBS, he would tell me to become a surgeon. I completed my PUC second year at SB Residential School. When I was joining MBBS, we faced financial crises and my mother sold her mangalsutra to pay the fee for the course," she recalled.

"I completed MBBS from KMC and MS from Bellary Medical College in 1984. Immediately after I completed the course, I joined Kidwai Memorial Cancer Hospital as a resident doctor. In 1994, I became the first woman professor. I later became the dean, HoD and director too," she said.

In 2016, she suffered heart attack. When she was being treated, BJP leader Anant Kumar asked her to join as head of National Institute of Pharmaceutical Education and Research at Mohali in Punjab.

"I dedicate the award to Lord Krishna as I am his ardent devotee," she said. She added that she remained unmarried as she felt it would come in the way of her serving the people.

PETER VIDAL

28TH January : Diplomacy is today's key quality. No matter how much other people try your patience, please respond with kind words and consideration. Also, if you should see friends and family at loggerheads, you may look for sensitive ways to resolve their difference.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Moon is intensifying its emotional influence over your sign, so your intuitive faculties are in fine form. Your business and professional imagination is now in top gear, so it's naturally an amazing day for anyone going to meetings or interviews.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
In spite of recent disagreements over finances, other people should now show their willingness to get on with life as normal. The very fact that Mars and Mercury are influencing your house of marriage, by the way, means that there is no room for time-wasting and waffle in relationships.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
There still seems to be an air of mild confusion over career or professional interests. One reason could be that other people have not been entirely straight or honest. Neither have they understood the implications of their actions. It might be up to you to put them right.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
The best that can be said about recent planetary aspects is that they have taught you the virtues of self-reliance. Now that so many planets are surging through creative regions of your chart, you can afford to enjoy yourself in the way that only you know how.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
If you expect to have life all your own way, especially at home, you will be making a very grave mistake. There is a feeling abroad that what is needed is a businesslike arrangement and plain speaking rather than sentimental frills, so don't be caught off guard.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There are now few signs of any more financial openings for Virgos, which means that all you can do today is formalise any recent agreements or decisions. Somehow even missed opportunities will present themselves for a second chance over the next week.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The Sun's brilliant alignment begins to shift, which means that you may suddenly be forced to abandon certain personal goals and deal with the inevitable costs slightly sooner rather than later. Still, it's best that you do so now rather than leave it until it's too late.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There is a lot to be said for keeping your distance and maintaining a dignified silence. Only if other people refuse point-blank to honour an agreement should you leap into the fray. As an extra aside, watch out for rising social or romantic costs.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You must realise that for every little piece of self-indulgence there is a price to be paid. Therefore this week you should always make sure that your emotional account remains in credit. It could be favour pay-back time, so return all the goodwill that you've been offered in recent times.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You have had more than your fair share of criticism, complaints and condemnation, and now it really is the time to boost your reputation. Spend as much time and take as much care as is necessary to arrange social engagements. Happiness lies in getting the details right.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
This is no time to be a shrinking violet. You must forget your democratic qualms and realise that you deserve to be number one. Nothing lasts for ever, but you must enjoy whatever glory you can get. Your emotional mood enters a more relaxed phase, by the way, although there'll still be surprises around every corner.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
How can you stay in one place when emotionally you are being drawn to another? This is not the first time that you have faced this Piscean dilemma, and hopefully you are now well on the way to a solution of a recurrent personal problem. And about time, some people might say.

OPPN DEFENDS ED NOTICE TO SIDDU'S WIFE, MINISTERS TERM IT POLITICALLY MOTIVATED

BYV says ED notice was shock to CM, as he tried to get MUDA case closed through 'B' report

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WHILE Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has acknowledged that the ED has issued a notice to his wife in the MUDA case, his cabinet colleagues have alleged that it is politically motivated.

Meanwhile, BJP leaders have defended the ED action, stating that it was part of the investigation. "Yes, the notice has come," quipped Siddaramaiah while addressing reporters after inquiring about the health of Kannada actor Shivarajkumar at the latter's residence here on Monday.

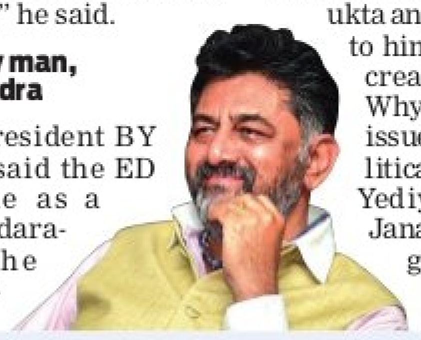
Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar termed the ED notice to Siddaramaiah's wife, and Urban Development Minister Byrati Suresh in the MUDA case a political conspiracy.

"This has happened to me too. Two agencies -- Lokayukta and ED -- cannot investigate a case simultaneously. Courts have given judgments that other agencies cannot investigate while the Lokayukta is probing the case. I will speak after getting complete information on this matter," he told reporters.

On the plea for a CBI investigation into the MUDA case, he said, "In my case too, the CBI and ED investigated. No two agencies can investigate a case together. I have mentioned the judgments in this regard before the court in my case," Shivakumar said.

Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi said the ED notice to CM's wife cannot be looked at from a political angle. "There is nothing new in ED issuing such notices. One should not give much importance to it. We should move court with regard to the two agencies investigating the case simultaneously. There might be a political angle to the MUDA case. But all the time (the due course of action), we cannot term it politically motivated. Whether it is right or wrong, our responsibility is to reply to it," he said.

DCM a happy man, says Vijayendra



BJP state president BY Vijayendra said the ED notice came as a shock to Siddaramaiah as he was attempting to get the MUDA case closed through a 'B' report.

He said with the ED issuing notice to CM's wife, Shivakumar, who wants to become CM, is a happy man now.

The media has exposed how the Lokayukta police functioned. The CM's brother-in-law used to visit the Lokayukta office at night, even though he was not given any notice. This is how Siddaramaiah's family members intervened in the case," he alleged.

"With ED issuing notice to CM's wife and Byrathi Suresh, they are not free from the clutches of the probing agency,'' he said. Referring to Shivakumar's statement, Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka said the ED action is not politically motivated. "When BS Yediyurappa was CM, the CBI, Lokayukta and ED issued notices to him. Why did that not create any issue then? Why is it being made an issue now? Wasn't it politically motivated when Yediyurappa and Gali Janardhana Reddy were given notices in the past?" he asked.

'Common man has faith in Lokayukta'

ON behalf of the state government, senior advocate Kapil Sibal argued that the probe is underway and a status report is already filed. If there are any inter-state ramifications or the court is not satisfied with the Lokayukta probe, it can be transferred to the CBI. But no such instance can be found. If there is a closure report, the complainant can file a protest petition. If the arguments of the complainant's counsel is accepted, the Lokayukta Act will be unconstitutional. The counsel cannot argue against the statute of Lokayukta, saying the chief minister is involved, he argued.

Appearing for Siddaramaiah, senior advocate Abhishek Manu Singhvi argued that without illegalities committed by the special court, which ordered a probe by the Lokayukta police, the CBI probe cannot be sought. The complainant cannot choose the investigating agency and if so, there should be principles of the rarest of rare case but it is not established in this case. The Lokayukta is a comprehensive agency for which the common man has immense faith, he argued.

Senior advocate Prof Ravivarma Kumar, representing Parvathy, argued that the CBI is not an independent investigating agency and there are so many victims of the agency. Therefore, the probe cannot be entrusted to the CBI.

'ED can't be stopped from recording statements'

THEY submitted that the high court reserved its order on the plea filed by complainant Snehayamyi Krishna, seeking its direction to entrust the MUDA case to CBI. While doing so, the high court directed the Lokayukta police not to file its final report till the pronouncement of the order. The high court quashed the identical summons issued to another person in the case.

Opposing the plea by the senior counsels to stay the summons, Additional Solicitor General of India Arvind Kamath, representing the ED, argued that the reasons for quashing the identical summons issued to another person are yet to be known as the order is not yet available. Also, the ED has powers to issue summons to persons whose names are not found in the predicate offence registered by the investigating agency. The ED cannot be stopped from recording statements or taking evidence. Recording evidence or statements will in no way frustrate the proceedings before the high court, which had reserved its verdict, he argued. Recently, the ED attached 142 immovable properties worth Rs 300 crore under the PMLA in connection with the MUDA case.

Siddu: Cases against Kannada activists will be withdrawn

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Monday said the government would withdraw all cases registered against Kannada activists. The CM made the announcement after unveiling the 25-ft bronze statue of Nanadevi Bhuvaneshwari at Vidhana Soudha. The height of the statue, along with its platform, stands at 41 feet, and weighs 31.50 tonnes.

Meanwhile, the CM announced that they would withdraw cases registered against Kannada activists, if they give an application. He said they have formed a cabinet sub-committee headed by the home minister. If any Kannada activists submit an application to the cabinet sub-committee, they will be looked into, and placed before the cabinet, which would help in withdrawal of the cases.

He added that people should love all languages, but they should use Kannada more. Siddaramaiah said when Devaraj Urs was the CM, he renamed the state as Karnataka, and in 2023, we completed 50 years. But the then BJP government did not celebrate the golden jubilee.

"In our neighbouring states, their languages are supreme. We need to adopt a similar approach here," he said.

OTS scheme: Properties without documents will get B-khata tag

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

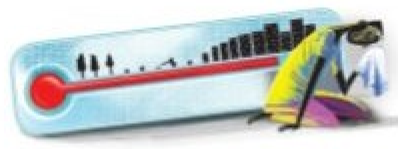
THE state government will undertake a one-time khata settlement of properties that do not have e-khata. Revenue Minister Krishna Byregowda announced it will be done like a campaign which will be completed within three months.

The minister, who had convened a review meeting with revenue officials on Monday, said outside Bengaluru, there are 55 lakh sites under various local bodies in urban areas, of which 22 lakh site owners have got e-khatas. "Over 30 lakh sites do not have any documents. We have given instructions to Deputy Commissioners to consider this as one-time and issue B-khata to these sites,'' he said. The review meeting was held from 1.30am to 8pm.

"We are now issuing a circular to undertake this as a campaign and complete it within three months, and issue B-khatas to properties which have no e-khata,'' he said.

He pointed out that CM Siddaramaiah had also instructed DCs that properties without documents can be registered under e-properties, and B-khata can be issued by providing the required documents. "A circular will be issued before February 10 to issue B-khata to properties within three months,'' he added.

The Supreme Court has given directions on unauthorised sites, which the government will follow, the minister said. "The government will identify such properties, and issue B-khatas. In the coming days, there will be no B-khata, only A-khata, and no illegal sites. Once we finish this in urban areas, a similar campaign will be taken up in rural areas,'' he said.



Temperatures up and up, it feels like summer already

ENS @ Bengaluru

STEPPING out one can feel the prickly summer heat and dry weather already. The temperatures have started to soar with mercury levels higher by 1-3 degrees Celsius than the normal in most parts of the state.

Officials at IMD said that it feels like summer, but it is not. Assessing this, it can be forecast that summer will be harsh this year and arrive early.

According to IMD data, Karwar recorded the highest maximum temperature of 35.8 degrees Celsius on Monday, which is 2.1 degrees Celsius above normal. Kalaburgi recorded a maximum of 35 degrees Celsius (2.3 degrees Celsius above normal), followed by Panambur and Honnavar, 34.8 and 34.7 degrees Celsius, respectively. Bengaluru city recorded a maximum of 30.4 degrees Celsius, 1.4 degrees Celsius above normal. Mysuru recorded 31 degrees Celsius, Shivamogga 33.3 degrees Celsius, Chamarajanagar 31.2 degrees Celsius and Gadag 32.4 degrees Celsius.

IMD senior scientist CS Patil told The New Indian Express that dry winds are prevailing. "This time, the northerly winds were not much. Most of the time, easterly and westerly winds prevail over the state. The rise in maximum temperatures over the state will continue for the next four days, after which light rain has been forecast for some parts of Karnataka," he said.

The IMD has forecast light rain on February 1 and 2 over Dakshina Kannada, Mysuru, Mandya, Bengaluru, Chamarajanagar, Ramanagara, Udupi, Hassan, Chikkamagaluru and Kodagu. Patil said the minimum temperature will continue to be below normal in most parts of the state.

Sriramulu's men file atrocity plaint against Gali

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @Ballari

THE open war between BJP MLA Gali Janardhana Reddy and former minister and once his close friend B Sriramulu is not over yet, despite the BJP top leadership warning both to call off the confrontation. Now, fans of Sriramulu, who is a Scheduled Tribe, have filed a police complaint against Reddy, alleging that the latter insulted their community and their leader Sriramulu.

Reacting to the case, Reddy said, "I have faced the CBI and I am ready to face anything."

Differences between the two became public after the BJP core committee meeting recently. Reddy alleged that Sriramulu is a criminal and does not have gratitude towards those who made him a leader in politics. Sriramulu retaliated saying, "Reddy is a criminal and I have video documents."

Sriramulu's followers said on Monday that Reddy, while making his statements, alleged, "Sriramulu who belongs to an ST community had a lot of aggression, but I made him a good man." In a counter to their complaint, Reddy's followers have said Sriramulu should return the properties given by Reddy.

Venkataraj B, an ST community leader, said, "Reddy said during a press conference that Sriramulu came to his house with weapons and begged to save him. Reddy said he was the one who made Sriramulu a human being which shows how Reddy treats the ST community leader. As a community, we have filed the atrocity case and submitted a memorandum to the Ballari SP. We hope that action will be taken soon."

He said, "There is also an allegation that Sriramulu did not work for the BJP candidate in the Sandur by-election. He did work for the candidate, but ultimately the voters decided to pick the Congress candidate. We stand with Sriramulu. We demand that BJP give him a good position, considering that he has a big following of workers and leaders."

Process on to modernise 1,000 police stations

YADGIR: Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara on Monday informed that the process of modernising 1,000 police stations is under way in the state. Inaugurating a new building of Town Police Station and police quarters here, built at a cost of Rs 2.12 crore and Rs 17 crore, respectively, Parameshwara said all police stations in the state would be modernised in a phase-wise manner. Arrangements will also be made to keep track of different police stations across the state from the headquarters in Bengaluru.

MICROFINANCE MESS

Govt didn't release money, people had to borrow from microfin firms: Ashoka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

LEADER of Opposition in the assembly R Ashoka on Monday alleged that the state government's failure to disburse loans under various schemes forced people to borrow from microfinance companies. "A total of Rs 1,700 crore should be given to corporations, but a mere Rs 643 crore has been released. This means there is a deficit of Rs 1,055 crore for all corporations. This money could have been given to people as loans, while at the same time, microfinance institutions have stepped in," he said while addressing the media at Vidhana Soudha.

He alleged that the government failed to disburse loans to different boards & corporations, including those meant for the welfare of SC/ST and OBC communities. This resulted in people turning to microfinance institutions and getting caught in debt trap.

"The state has become the suicide capital under the Congress government. People are taking loans from microfinance companies because of the sins of this government. If the government itself had provided loans, people would not have committed suicide," he stated.

"Rowdies in the illegal microfinance business were quiet for some time. But now they have jobs because of the Congress government," he complained.

He put forth statistics comparing the grants released by the previous BJP government and the Congress government. The BJP government had provided Rs 60 crore in 2022-23 for the Ganga Kalyan Yojana under the Dr BR Ambedkar Development Corporation, whereas the Congress government released a mere Rs 40 crore in 2024-25. Under the self-employment scheme, it was Rs 100 crore versus Rs 45 crore, he claimed. The BJP government gave Rs 110 crore for the Tanda Development Corporation's self-employment scheme, but the Congress government has given Rs 60 crore. If BJP gave Rs 100 crore to the Karnataka Adi Jambava Development Corporation, Congress has given Rs 50 crore, he elaborated. "In addition, money has been frozen in Valmiki ST Development Corporation due to corruption," he pointed out.

"DCC banks have suffered losses because CM Siddaramaiah promised a loan waiver. What Prime Minister Narendra Modi said that if Congress comes to power, they will snatch 'mangalsutra' of women has now come true. If women really got the money from Gruha Lakshmi, why would they go to microfinance companies," he asked.

He felt it is too late for Siddaramaiah to bring in a new law to protect borrowers. "The people have been sent out of their homes without giving notice. The police who should have taken action have formed a nexus with finance institutions," he alleged.

TWO VILLAGERS FROM NANJANGUD END LIVES

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

IN spite of the State government's assurance to regulate microfinance firms by amending the existing laws, villagers continue to die by suicide or leave their villages, allegedly due to harassment from the companies. Harassment by private finance firms drove two more villagers, including a woman, to suicide in Nanjangud taluk of Mysuru district.

In the first incident, 53-year-old Jayasheela from Ambale village ended her life on Sunday afternoon, unable to bear the torture from private microfinance companies to repay her loan. Jayasheela consumed pesticide in her farmland, and though she was rushed to hospital by villagers, failed to respond to treatment.

Villagers claimed that Jayasheela had borrowed Rs 5 lakh from IIFL and Five Star microfinance firms to purchase a cow and agricultural implements. She was paying a monthly instalment of Rs 20,000, but after her cow died of illness recently, she faced financial distress and ended her life. Nanjangud Rural police are investigating.

In Malkundi village, 32-year-old Krishnamurthy hanged himself at his home on Monday. Police said Krishnamurthy was unable to repay Rs 4lakh loan taken from Dharmasthala Mahila Swasahaya Sangha, Ujjivan finance company and three other finance firms.

Villagers said on Monday morning, Krishnamurthy had pleaded with friends and relatives for money to repay the loan, and when he failed to get financial support, ended his life.

Harassment by finance firms is on the rise -- on Saturday, a microfinance firm employee was arrested in Periyapatna taluk after threatening a youth with a pistol and demanding he pay his loan. The youth recorded the incident on his mobile and posted it on social media, prompting SP N Vishnuvardhan to file an FIR against the accused Puneeth, who was remanded in judicial custody.

However, after two suicides Hullahalli police on Monday registered an FIR against five private finance companies, including Dharmasthala Women's Self-Help Group.

Meanwhile, activists of the Karnataka State Sugarcane Growers' Association protested and shouted slogans near the DC's office, condemning the microfinance menace.

Tell micro financiers to follow RBI norms: KBG to DCs, SPs

BENGALURU: Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda on Monday directed deputy commissioners to convene a meeting with micro finance firms in their respective districts, along with SPs, and instruct them to follow RBI guidelines for loan recovery. If they fail to do so, cases can be registered against erring micro financiers, he warned. In several cases, Gowda said financiers lend loans beyond the borrowers' ability to repay. They have given loans to the tune of Rs 59,000 crore. "In order to extend it, they have violated RBI guidelines, and are ignoring the borrowers' capacity while giving out loans, resulting in incident," he said. The minister informed that the RBI guidelines say a micro financier cannot give loans of more than Rs 2 lakh, but here they are giving loans of even Rs 6 lakh. "There are cases where they have given loans to 3-4 people in one house, which is well beyond their ability to repay. Financiers are pushing people into a debt trap. This has to be monitored," he said, adding that the DCs and SPs have to strictly warn micro financiers. Further, Gowda said the Centre has not given any power to the DCs to act against such lenders, which is why the state government now plans to bring this issue under its ambit, so as to safeguard borrowers, and control such illegal transactions and lending activities. ENS

FIRE IN EV SHOWROOM GUTS 19 SCOOTERS

Blast in battery suspected to have sparked fire

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

The remains of electric scooters gutted in a fire in a two-wheeler showroom in Rajajinagar on Monday | EXPRESS

AT least 19 electric scooters were gutted in an accidental fire in a two-wheeler showroom on Dr Rajkumar Road in Rajajinagar police station limits on Monday afternoon.

This is the second such incident in the same vicinity in the past two months.

On Monday, fire broke out in the EV showroom located near Suguna Hospital, and is suspected to have been sparked by a blast in a battery. Locals reported a loud sound, and four persons, including the staffers who were inside, rushed out immediately.

There were more than 70 two-wheelers in the showroom, of which 19 were completely gutted and nine two-wheelers were partially damaged. Two fire tenders, one from Rajajinagar and the other from High Grounds fire stations, rushed to the spot and brought the fire under control before it spread to neighbouring buildings. The fire control room received the call at 2.07pm.

"It is said the showroom had violated certain rules of the transport department and the jurisdictional RTO officials had visited the place last week. We are checking if the showroom had fire extinguishers. Electric short-circuit is also not ruled out," an officer said. Rajajinagar police registered a case.

On November 19, 2024, a 26-year-old woman accountant was charred to death after she was caught inside the electric scooter showroom that went up in flames. Short-circuit was suspected to be the cause of the fire, which had gutted more than 25 two-wheelers. Police had arrested two persons, including the owner of the showroom.

3, including minor, held for robbing silversmith

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THREE persons, including a juvenile, have been arrested in connection with a daylight robbery reported at a silversmith's house on RT Street in Chickpet in the city between 3.40 and 4.20 pm on Friday.

The accused had threatened the complainant Nagaraju Shindhe, 27, and his mother Nitha Shindhe, 45, at gunpoint and escaped with Rs 12,000 in cash and 26 grams of gold ornaments.

Gold, gun recovered

The gang had also gagged and tied the hands and legs of the duo. The police have recovered a country-made revolver, gold and cash from the accused. Three mobile phones that belonged to the accused have also been recovered.

Nagaraju had filed a complaint with the City Market Police the same day and the police arrested the three accused. Two of the three accused are identified as N Ajay Rao alias Ajay Kumar, 24, and L Sunil Singh, 18. All the three hail from Rajasthan.

"The one who is still at large is said to be the mastermind behind the robbery. The trio claims that they acted at the behest of the absconding accused. Two of the arrested accused have been taken into police custody. The minor has been sent to the Government Observation Home in Madiwala," the police said.

A case of robbery committed using deadly weapons under Section 311 of BNS has been registered. Further investigations are on.

Victims have identified accused, say police

THE incident happened between 11.05 pm and 11.35 pm at Lakkasandra Extension. Hussain came to the city three years ago. In his complaint, Amir, who came to the city last year, stated that he and Hussain along with three others were at a juice centre when the accused, who came by an autorickshaw, asked them for an address in Kannada. When Hussain said that they could not speak Kannada. The accused attacked him and Amir, said the police.

After the accused left, Hussain and Amir were shifted to the hospital by their friends. Amir filed the complaint the next day. "The accused have been arrested based on the footage from CCTVs in the vicinity. The victims have identified the accused," the officer said.

A case of attempt to murder along with other Sections of BNS have been registered against the accused.

2 killed as 2 bikes collide

BENGALURU: A bike rider and a pillion rider of another bike died in a head-on collision between two bikes near Honnenahalli Gate in Yelahanka on Monday morning. One of them died on the spot while the other while being taken to a hospital. One of the victims is a BBA student while the other is working in an engineering college. The victims are Pavan Kumar, 21, an engineering college employee residing in Adda Vishwanathapura and Tejas, 20, a BBA student and a native of Hindupur. Tejas was riding pillion and the bike rider who came against the one way collided head on with Pavan's bike. The bike rider sustained minor injuries and is out of danger. Rajanukunte police have registered a case. ENS

M'luru bank robbery: 18kg gold, Rs 3.8L cash recovered, 4 held

MANGALURU: Mangaluru City Police has managed to recover 18.314 kg of gold and Rs 3.8 lakh cash stolen from the Kotekar Vyavasaya Seva Sahakari Sangha on KC Road under Ullal station limits, and arrested four people. Mangaluru City Police Commissioner Anupam Agrawal said that the robbers had planned the heist six months ago when the accused Murugan and Kannan Mani met in Taloja jail and conspired with a local associate, Shashi Thevar, the main conspirator is still on the run. "The robbery was carried out at the bank between 1 pm and 1.20 pm on January 17 by a group of four masked and armed individuals, wielding pistols and knives. Certain lapses on the part of the bank, including CCTV cameras under maintenance and master locker left open, helped the accused," the commissioner said. He said, "All the 18.314 kg of gold and Rs 3.8 lakh in cash and armaments and lethal weapons, the getaway car, and two fake number plates were recovered in roughly a week. We have arrested four accused, and hunt is on for four more people involved in the bank heists." He said that the accused Shashi, Murugan and others conducted recce thrice between August and November last year to plan entry, exit routes and logistics and they decided to carry out the robbery. ENS

‘Assess performance, not NHRC DNA’

Citing fundamental flaw in argument, NHRC chief questions global body for deferring accreditation for nat’l panel

THE RISE OF A NEW INDOSPHERE

BINITA JAISWAL @Chennai

NATIONAL Human Rights Commission (NHRC) Chairperson Justice V Ramasubramanian raised strong objections to the Global Alliance of National Human Rights Institutions (GANHRI) for deferring NHRC’s accreditation during the inaugural session of the 13th ThinkEdu Conclave held on Monday.

Speaking on the topic ‘Balancing the Scales: Rights, Duties and the Indian Soul,’ moderated by Dinamani Editor Vaidiyanathan, Justice Ramasubramanian addressed GANHRI’s rationale for withholding NHRC’s accreditation for the past two years. GANHRI, the apex certification body for national human rights institutions, cited the commission’s non-compliance with the Paris Principles of 1993.

“I think there is a fundamental flaw in their argument. If you have to assess an institution and give accreditation, you must assess its performance and not its DNA,” said the NHRC chairperson.

He added, “If you assess the performance of NHRC and say it is not up to the standard, we do not give you accreditation, I agree. But if you say that there is a congenital deformity in how you are born, then I think it’s not about the accreditation of NHRC, but it is an accreditation of the government.”

Justice Ramasubramanian acknowledged resolving the delay in accreditation has been a major challenge since taking over as NHRC chairperson a little over a month ago. Additionally, he highlighted the complexity of enforcing human rights in a country as diverse as India, which has people practising more than eight major religions worldwide, divided by 1,640 castes and communities, speaking more than 22 official languages, and having different ethnicities.

In response to questions about whether NHRC is considered toothless, Justice Ramasubramanian stressed on NHRC’s power to inquire, investigate, and make recommendations.

Talking about rights and duties, Justice Ramasubramanian said historically all societies including India have been duty-conscious societies rather than right-conscious. But the course of history took a detour around the 20th century with a focus on rights.

“The debate of rights vs duty has again regained momentum and there is an increasing awareness that their duties to fellow human beings have become the focus worldwide. Without imbibing upon ourselves the duty to respect the rights of others, I think our rights will be put in jeopardy,” he said.

Delivering the welcome address, Editorial Director of TNIE, Prabhu Chawla, highlighted TNIE is the only newspaper in the country to have sustained a high-quality conclave on education for the last 13 years.

“In the world of market, where valuations are becoming more important, we are all devoted to the values of Bharat,” he said. He further added that education is not commerce alone, but a value-building exercise for the newspaper.

Recalling the conclave’s journey, Chawla noted that it has hosted 500 speakers who had participated in discussions on themes such as the Indianisation of education and entrepreneurship in skilling students. However, he cautioned against over-reliance on artificial intelligence (AI), warning of its potential to undermine critical thinking. He urged the need to balance modernity with traditional knowledge.

A theme song created using AI was also played during the inaugural session.

Engaging with people more rewarding than attending Parl: Tharoor

SIDDHARTH PRABHAKAR
@ Chennai

CONGRESS MP and former union minister Shashi Tharoor acknowledged the growing rift between the government and opposition and expressed dissatisfaction with the declining quality of parliamentary debate and proceedings.

Speaking on ‘India’s Parliamentary Proceedings: Some Reflections’ during a conversation with senior journalist Kaveree Bamzai, Tharoor remarked he found engaging with people more rewarding than participating in Parliament.

The Thiruvananthapuram MP said the BJP-led NDA government gives a sense that the opposition’s views don’t matter, leading to a “complete breakdown of trust and communication” between the government and the opposition. He compared this to the UPA era, where opposition voices were considered even while passing important bills.

Highlighting the strained relationship between the ruling party and the opposition, Tharoor said the opposition is increasingly being viewed as enemy rather than adversaries. “Words like ‘anti-national’ and ‘treason’ are being used for opposition MPs. They are being seen as enemy, not adversaries,” he said.

While acknowledging Parliament’s shortcomings, Tharoor stressed its importance by citing two pivotal events. He referred to Congress MP Rahul Gandhi’s speech labelling the BJP government a “suit-boot ki sarkar,” which prompted the ruling party to change its image. He also mentioned Trinamool Congress MP Mahua Moitra’s expulsion as evidence of the impact her speeches had in the House.

Tharoor claimed PM Narendra Modi seldom attends Parliament and that questions posed to ministries he oversees are answered by the Minister of State (Jitendra Singh). Responding to a question from Bamzai about the new Parliament building, Tharoor described it as a “soulless convention hall”, lacking the character and charm of its predecessor.

‘Ideal testing model will have huge question bank’

THE RISE OF A NEW INDOSPHERE

UGC Chairman Mamidala Jagadesh Kumar speaks with Prof S Vaidhyasubramaniam, Vice-Chancellor of SASTRA University | P JAWAHAR

As the number of students aspiring for higher education surges, the need for a robust, error-free, and student-centric national-level entrance examination has become paramount. Highlighting its potential to bolster public confidence in the system’s transparency and fairness, Prof Mamidala Jagadesh Kumar, Chairman of the University Grants Commission (UGC), shared this vision during his address on day one of the ThinkEdu Conclave 2025.

Speaking during the session titled ‘Testing Times: Rebuilding Exams in India’, chaired by Prof S Vaidhyasubramaniam, Vice-Chancellor of SASTRA University, Prof Kumar highlighted the challenges posed by the multitude of examinations, primarily conducted by the National Testing Agency (NTA). “The number of students appearing for these examinations, which was just over 60 lakh in 2018, has grown to 1.20 crore,” he noted, adding that this number will rise further.

Answering a question by Prof Vaidhyasubramanian on the need for multiple national-level entrance examinations for a limited number of seats, Prof Kumar described the act of conducting a national-level exam — or any exam — as a “logistical nightmare”.

He proposed to strengthen the NTA to allow universities to utilise its tests for admissions.

Terming these national-level entrance exams as “national assets,” Prof Vaidhyasubramanian proposed mandating a single exam for all universities and states, allowing them to customise it as per their requirements.

Prof Kumar responded by saying that an ideal testing model would have a huge question bank, with a “computer-based adaptive testing mechanism”.

Reflecting on the progress of the National Education Policy, 2020, Prof Kumar said that the policy is rooted in ensuring equity, access to higher education, and social justice, and is bringing widespread reforms in education.

Course-correct to achieve the Vishwaguru status: Swamy

SUBASHINI VIJAYAKUMAR
@ Chennai

ECONOMIST and thinker Subramanian Swamy has urged India to course-correct its economic, foreign, and military policies to achieve Vishwaguru status within the next 15 years.

Interacting with TNIE Editorial Director, Prabhu Chawla, on the topic ‘Vishwaguru or Vishwabandu: The Right Way for India’ on 27 January, Swamy explained the distinction between the two terms. “While Vishwaguru refers to a nation that is sufficiently educated and capable of sharing its knowledge with other countries, Vishwabandu refers to an individual who is a friend to people across nations,” he said.

Swamy highlighted that India has already achieved Vishwaguru status in certain fields, such as yoga and contributions to modern engineering, where Indians play a significant role. However, he noted that the country remains economically unbalanced in many aspects and continues to rely on imports in several areas.

Describing West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee as a leader he’s friendly with, Swamy said, “She is a very courageous woman and a person who keeps her word. She is quite blunt and straightforward. She has been elected CM three times... that’s where the communists were such horrible people and she’s reduced them to zero. I admire her.”

Agreeing with the view that she should be made the leader of the INDIA bloc, he said, “She’ll give a really good fight.”

Manipur is a case of out of mind & out of sight: MP flays centre

PRAVEENA S A @Chennai

A panel discussion on challenges and opportunities faced by first-time MPs in an era dominated by social media saw young MPs from both ends of the political spectrum speak their mind on a host of issues.

Inner Manipur MP Angomcha Bimol Akoijam, Jajpur MP Dr R N Behera, and John Brittas (Rajya Sabha member from Kerala) spoke about Manipur violence, caste census, and controversy over comments on Ambedkar at the panel discussion chaired by TNIE Editor Santwana Bhattacharya.

Opening the session, Santwana referred to Bimol’s viral debut speech in Parliament. Reflecting on the emotional speech, Bimol attributed its impact to his 35-40 years of academic experience. Criticising the Union government’s silence on the Manipur violence, he said, “The Manipur case is not out of sight or out of mind but rather a case of out of mind and out of sight.”

Responding to a question on caste census, Dr Behera underscored the BJP’s respect for Dr Ambedkar and the party’s support for reservation. Dismissing the debate on caste census as unnecessary, he asked why the Congress failed to hold the caste census during its rule. Behera praised PM Narendra Modi and said, “The BJP’s focus is only nation-building.”

CPM MP John Brittas, however, disagreed. “It’s been over a year since Manipur started burning, yet the PM, who attends weddings in Kerala, hasn’t found the time to visit the state that’s in a crisis,” he said.

Bimol highlighted the confusion in fixing accountability in the issue, with the Union Home Minister blaming the Manipur government and the CM claiming lack of authority. When Santwana asked Behera if the issue was adequately discussed in Parliament, he blamed the opposition for stalling debates. “The opposition has no agenda but to create chaos,” Behera claimed, adding first-time MPs struggle to find the opportunity to speak due to disruptions.

The Ambedkar controversy, too, sparked a heated debate. While Behera credited the BJP for recognising Ambedkar’s legacy, claiming the party awarded him the Bharat Ratna, John refuted it, saying the award was conferred under V P Singh’s National Front government.

Bimol also stressed the need to restore Parliament’s sanctity, urging MPs to be honest to their role in the society. Behera highlighted the role of deep tech and AI in combating misinformation. John voiced concerns about AI’s potential to undermine democratic processes, but reiterated his commitment to preserving India’s diversity.

‘Modern times call for learning three languages’

BINITA JAISWAL @Chennai

THOUGH the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) has no official stance on a two-language or three-language policy, RSS joint general secretary Mukunda CR believes that modern times necessitate learning at least three languages: one’s mother tongue, a regional language and a career language.

During a conversation with Ravi Shankar, Consulting Editor of The Sunday Standard, on the topic “The Culture Project: Values for the Viksit Bharatiya”, Mukunda said, “I am not against English or Hindi, but opposing Hindi just for the sake of opposition and turning it into a campaign is not good for the nation.”

Selvaraghavan told me not to take characters home, says actor Karthi

AKSHAY KUMAR @Chennai

Actor Karthi shares his experience with senior journalist Kaveree Bamzai | KEVIN NASHON

It was director Selvaraghavan who advised Meiyazhagan star Karthi to leave his characters behind at the end of a day’s shoot. “He said carrying the roles home would hamper our personal lives. I still follow his advice,” revealed the star during a discussion on ‘What Lies Beneath: Getting into Character’ on Monday at the ThinkEdu Conclave in Chennai.

Speaking to senior journalist Kaveree Bamzai, the actor opened up about the psychological toll of his first film, Paruthiveeran (2007). “The climax of Paruthiveeran involves the male lead’s love interest being sexually assaulted by several men. It hit me so hard that I cried every day for three months. Thankfully, on the sets of Aayirathil Oruvan (2010), Selvaraghavan sir saw my preparation and advised me not to stay in character before ‘action’ and after ‘cut.’”

Reflecting on how his grounded upbringing helped him connect to the world of Meiyazhagan (2024), Karthi said he didn’t have to prepare for the role. “It was my comfort zone... I’ve met people in real life like the ones in the film.”

The actor revealed that his role as Vandiyathevan in Mani Ratnam’s Ponniyin Selvan films got his mother excited about his career for “the first time”. “As far as the romance is concerned, Mani Ratnam sir takes care of it. For a mechanical engineering student like me, it was nothing short of a dream to propose to someone like Aishwarya Rai,” he laughed.

Even as he expressed gratitude for the love he receives from fans, Karthi voiced concern about the lack of recognition for achievers in other fields. “I felt embarrassed to receive applause during an event for our Uzhavan Foundation when people who have achieved much more went unrecognised. Through the foundation, we’re taking up projects like restoration of waterbodies and empowering widows through agriculture,” he said. Sharing an update on the upcoming instalment of Sardar, the actor said Sardar 2 will serve as both a prequel and sequel.

FISCAL PRUDENCE: ODISHA AND OTHER STATES CAN LEARN FROM EACH OTHER

THOUGH Niti Aayog's Fiscal Health Index (FHI) paints a worrying picture for many states, it only has praise for Odisha. The state, which topped the chart on five indices, has its fiscal responsibility and budget management (FRBM) vitals on target. The report assessed 18 states on the quality of expenditure, revenue mobilisation, fiscal prudence, debt index and sustainability in 2022-23. It found Odisha's quality of spending judicious as its revenue expenditure on social sectors like health and education grew at 33.8 percent during 2020-22, faster than in other major states. Capital expenditure on education, sports, arts and culture also grew, as did spending on urban development.

The FHI pointed out that Odisha's prudence reduced its fiscal deficit to 2 percent of the gross state development product in 2022-23. The state's external borrowings have also been low compared to many others'. Hence, the ratio of outstanding liabilities to GSDP has been well within the FRBM target. Much of this financial discipline was achieved during the previous BJD regime, which had taken over in 2000, when the state's finances were in dire straits and a vicious super cyclone had ravaged the economy. That explains the focus on welfarism, which the party took to higher levels during subsequent elections—a trend many other states are following now. Whereas earnings from mining gave Odisha the liberty to splurge on handouts, most others do not have such a steady and substantive stream of revenue.

However, Odisha's focus has changed with the new BJP government. While it is mandated to push the pace of development through industrialisation, employment generation and spend on infrastructure, it has unfurled 16 new welfare programmes. The Subhadra Yojana alone needed a budgetary allocation of ₹10,000 crore for 2024-25. The state's main revenue source is a boon as well as a bane, as 90 percent of the non-tax revenue and 45 percent of own revenue receipts come from mining. Revenue from the sector crossed ₹46,000 crore in 2023-24, mainly because of the high premiums paid at auctions. Such a dependence on one sector is a cause of concern as expenditure zooms. So, while other states can learn prudence from Odisha, the eastern state will do well to take note of the trouble others are facing in funding their populist schemes. Each side will be better off learning from the other.

SINNER TAKES CHARGE, KEYS KEEPS OLD PROMISE

A Grand Slam final is not usually this one-sided. The blue-floored Rod Laver arena in Melbourne promised a pulsating clash—the No 1 versus the No 2. But on court, the difference of class belied the close ranking. Jannik Sinner hardly played a wrong shot the whole night. His opponent Alexander Zverev aptly summed things up: "[Sinner] does everything better than me." Hence the top seed defended his Slam without a flutter.

The nature of the Italian's triumph over the German strengthened the belief that Sinner is now the men's game's pre-eminent force. During his thrilling takedown of Carlos Alcaraz in their quarterfinal, Novak Djokovic showed he still has the hunger, but his body has started increasingly rebelling against his will. Time, after all, is no friend of mortals. This could well be the Serb's last season on the top-level tour. Meanwhile, 23-year-old Sinner, who has now won his last three hard-court majors, has stolen a march over Alcaraz in this new era's top rivalry. The Spaniard is younger and has won more Slams, but the Italian seems locked in for success now. But then, even while heading to Melbourne, Sinner knew his bigger battle would be at the Court of Arbitration for Sport in April, when the World Anti-Doping Agency's appeal on a doping charge will be heard. If the appeal fails, Sinner may be the top seed in Paris, where Alcaraz is the defending champion.

If the men's result was predictable, the women's was somewhat surprising. Madison Keys, a popular player who had last reached a Slam final at the US Open in 2017, finally fulfilled a long-proclaimed prophecy when she bested Aryna Sabalenka in the women's singles final. Keys was marked for greatness as soon as she won her maiden Women's Tennis Association tour match when she was only 15. Since then, though, the wins have not been as regular. There have been deep tournament runs, but the one big Slam title continued to elude her. Not anymore. Hopefully, the world will get to see more of Keys in the future. As with men's tennis, the era's top order in the women's game is also coming into sharper focus. Another age of great rivalries is upon us.

QUICK TAKE

RUMBLE IN AI JUNGLE

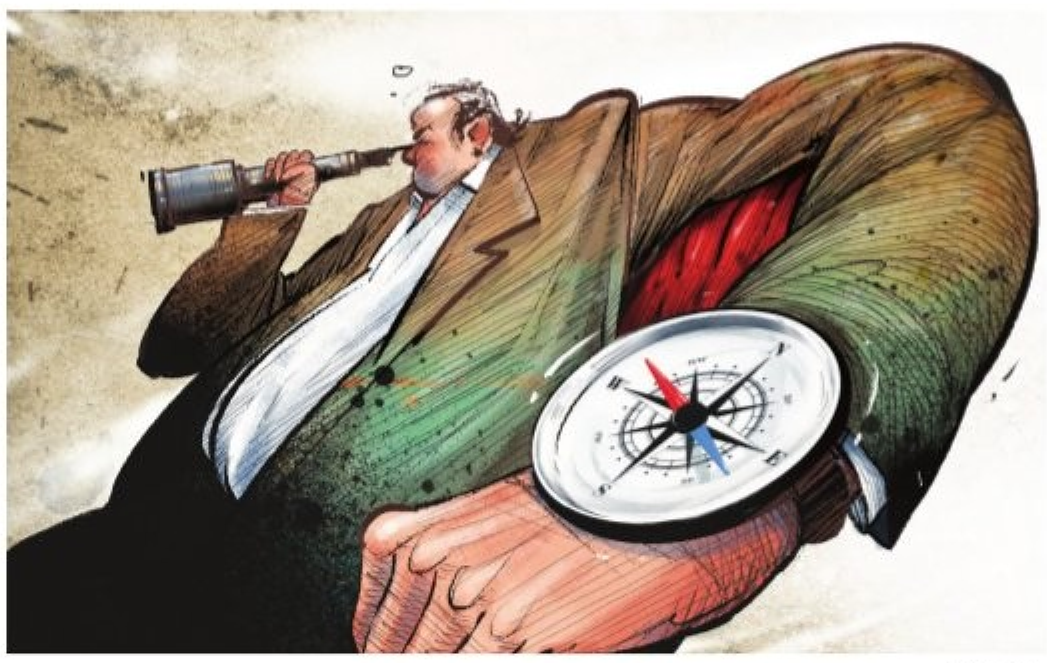
TWO concerns about artificial intelligence are getting flagged around the world more than others—cost and safety. DeepSeek, a Chinese startup's open-source models, recently shook up the industry by showing the costs need not be so high. Stocks of US and Japanese tech giants crashed as DeepSeek-V3 overtook ChatGPT as the most downloaded AI app. At such a disruptive moment, Narendra Modi is set to co-chair a two-day AI Action Summit in Paris in early February. While discussing regulatory issues over the other major concern—safety—hope the global leaders will also look at making AI tools available for everyone at a reasonable cost. Equality among nations and individuals will depend on it.

Pakistan's western border is being disputed by the Afghan Taliban, which has reached out to India. This loss of strategic depth makes our neighbour vulnerable to manipulation

AS IT LOOKS EAST, PAK FACES TROUBLE ON WESTERN FRONT

LT GEN SYED ATA HASNAIN (RETD)

Former Commander, Srinagar-based 15 Corps; Chancellor, Central University of Kashmir



SOURAV ROY

FOR some time now, India's eastern front has drawn the major part of the country's strategic focus, especially after the dramatic meltdown in Bangladesh on and after August 5, 2024. Yet, a lot has been happening on India's immediate west too—in Pakistan and Afghanistan—that merits attention, especially because, with several interlinked issues, there is hardly any clear geographical divide in India's strategic interests on either side.

A convergence of four challenges has considerably strained Pakistan's strategic situation: the continuing internal political instability, severe economic challenges that constrain effective governance including national security, deteriorating security condition involving militant activities, particularly by the Tehreek-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP), and the fraying relationship with Afghanistan that complicates Pakistan's western border security and diminishes its influence in Kabul.

Pakistan has faced considerable political turmoil, particularly following the ouster of former PM Imran Khan in April 2022, which deepened polarisation within the country. The nature of Pakistan's politics borders on a virtual war between parties, with the army playing the kingmaker. From mid-2022 to date, we have witnessed an unrelenting campaign to exclude the most popular personality in the Pakistan political scene despite the democratic support he obtained.

Imran was equally at fault in triggering fractious radical politics, which also intensely involved the army. To keep him out of reckoning for leadership, he was sentenced to 14 years in prison on corruption charges along with his wife, Bushra Bibi, who received a seven-year sentence. Imran's party, Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI), which has announced plans to appeal the verdict, is also being targeted by the army and the coalition in power to make it politically irrelevant.

However, such alignments are usually short-lived in Pakistan; this may not be the last that we are hearing of Imran and the PTI, although the reconciliatory talks the PTI had entered into are now on hold.

Politics has divided the army, too, and deeply affected the scope of governance. These actions have drawn criticism from the international community, including the US, over concerns about judicial independence and due process. As a greater irritant, Pakistan's recent social media bill has restrained the freedom of expression in a marked way.

Meanwhile, the World Bank has approved a $20-billion, 10-year programme to support Pakistan's reforms in renewable energy, education and social sectors. The initiative complements the $7-billion facility secured from the IMF in September 2024, which focuses on economic stabilisation and structural reforms. The macroeconomic situation is showing some improvement with lower inflation, but growth is still quite restricted. The country's forex reserves are at about $16 billion, compared to India's $620 billion.

So, the strategic capability gap between Pakistan and India has expanded exponentially, making Pakistan that much more vulnerable to external manipulation—something quite evident from the hand it is now attempting to play in Bangladesh, allegedly at the behest of its Chinese sponsors. The vulnerability could have been partially prevented had Pakistan's economy been in a better shape.

In response to a surge in militant attacks and sectarian tensions, Pakistani security forces initiated a major operation recently in the Kurram district of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa. The district has been isolated since last November due to road blockages from clashes between Shiite and Sunni tribes. This adds to the difficulty of effective governance, especially when internal security challenges are characterised by militant activity, sectarian strife, legislative changes and political instability.

The TTP, garnering an advantage, has intensified attacks on the security forces, particularly from its bases in Afghanistan. This has strained Pakistan's relations with Afghanistan and poses continuing security challenges.

When the Afghan Taliban returned to power in August 2021, Pakistan's ISI wrung its hands gleefully, perceiving it as an achievement of all that it aspired to. The long-sought 'strategic depth' appeared close with a friendly regime in Kabul.

The Afghan territory in which militant groups such as the TTP took refuge was now conceived as 'no-go' for anti-Pakistan elements. Most importantly, the necessity of having two large military formations—the 11 and 12 Corps, in reserve for contingencies on the western border—would now be diluted, adding to Pakistan's available conventional reserve forces against India. At this stage, the latter was deeply enmeshed with issues concerning its own order of battle, with formations being reoriented in operational roles from the west to the north to meet the threat in Ladakh.

However, none of Pakistan's aspirations seem to have been met. Instead, we have witnessed an improving India-Afghanistan relationship in recent months. The Afghan Taliban views its evolving relationship with India as a strategic opportunity to enhance Afghanistan's economic development and regional integration. The Taliban has identified India as a "significant regional and economic partner".

There are avenues through which the new Afghanistan has expressed its concerns against Pakistan. The TTP has been given sanctuaries in Afghan territory, thus allowing it to carry out transborder raids in Pakistan. The established border between the two countries along the Durand Line is being virtually derecognised. It reflects Afghanistan's broader historical and ethnic considerations, as the border divides the significant Pashtun and Baloch populations between the two nations. Incidents have occurred where Taliban forces have intervened to halt Pakistan's border fencing work, viewing it as a unilateral action that disregards Afghan territorial claims.

What some may disagree with is that the Afghan Taliban also does not wish to play second fiddle to Pakistan in the politics of Islam. It has its own aspirations for the control of the Afghan-Pak territories under its ideological regime rather than any ISI-backed dispensation. Ironically, while Pakistan is failing to cultivate its strategic depth on the west, it is seeking links with its erstwhile and estranged eastern wing that has been an independent and progressive nation for the last 54 years.

NEED TO SHIFT GEARS AFTER A DECADE OF BETI BACHAO

SRINIVAS GOLI

Associate Professor, International Institute for Population Sciences

PANKAJ KUMAR PATEL

PhD student, International Institute for Population Sciences

THERE'S a saying in Haryana, "Beti nahi bachaaoge, toh bahu kahaan se laaoge (If you don't save daughters, from where will you bring daughters-in-law)?" Although it's inappropriate to assume all daughters are brides-in-waiting, this remains a powerful slogan that continues to raise awareness against the serious negative consequences of sex-selective abortions in a state that has been facing a 'daughter deficit' for decades.

Despite decreasing poverty, increasing education and improvements in girls' health, child sex ratios, especially the sex ratio at birth (SRB), continue to be low in India. It profoundly reflects the paradox of gender development in the country. To address this problem, on January 22, 2015, the central government launched the Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao (BBBP) campaign, which is now marking its tenth year. This milestone offers an opportunity to reflect on the progress achieved and ask what the way forward should be.

BBBP was launched to combat declining child sex ratios by improving survival, protection, and education of the girl child. Since independence, governments at the national and state levels have introduced several such programmes to augment women's empowerment. While there have been signs of progress, the targets are still far from being met.

BBBP was launched with the dual objectives of curbing gender-biased sex selection and improving girls' status, especially to raise the age of marriage and education level. The programme has been lauded for raising awareness about protecting and educating daughters. However, the progress towards gender development and equity has been a blend of triumphs and trials.

States like Haryana, once infamous for skewed sex ratios, have shown noticeable improvement. According to recent state reports, Haryana's SRB rose from 876 girls per 1,000 boys in 2015 to 916 in 2023. The progress can be attributed to awareness campaigns, strict enforcement of the Pre-Conception and Pre-Natal Diagnostic Techniques Act 1994, and financial incentives like Ladli and Aapki Beti Hamari Beti (Your Daughter is Our Daughter) scheme, especially post BBBP campaigning.

However, BBBP's effect on improving the SRB is not observed in states other than Haryana, Punjab and Himachal Pradesh, which have been traditionally known for low SRBs. Delhi, surrounded by these three states, continues to experience a decline in the SRB. The count has also declined in 10 states, and most of are in the south and east of the country, regions traditionally known for better sex ratios.

Among gender development indicators counted in successive rounds of the National Family Health Survey (1992 to 2021), significant progress has been made in narrowing the gaps in educational and health outcomes between genders, and this has pushed the age at marriage upwards. NFHS data also suggests that the child survival outcome for girls is now better than boys', although young girls have not yet achieved their full biological advantage in child survival. Literacy rates among young women are nearly at par with those of young men, and more girls are delaying marriage as a result of increasing educational opportunities and rising aspiration for decent jobs.

> Though the sex ratio at birth has improved in a few northern states, it has moved in the opposite direction in some eastern and southern states. We must improve women's employment rate and push for pay parity to make campaigns like Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao more effective

However, the trend in education and health has failed to contribute meaningfully to more autonomy and agency for women. The picture is particularly despairing when it comes to parity in employment opportunities, wages and financial autonomy. The female labour force participation rate remains dismally low. This inability to raise women's employment rate and wage has become a serious concern for a growing number of economists. It's reflected in the recent Global Gender Gap report for 2024, which showed that women in India, on an average, earned only ₹39.8 for every ₹100 earned by men, ranking 127th worldwide on gender pay parity.

While awareness campaigns have been crucial in spotlighting disparities, they must be complemented by systemic reforms addressing the patriarchal roots of gender discrimination to sustain and amplify their impact. SRBs are more skewed towards males among upper castes and richer economic groups, thus indicating that incentives promised under Ladli and Aapki Beti Hamari Beti schemes have minimal influence on these groups.

So the policy needs to reach them in a different manner. It's time to work towards eliminating age-old notions such as 'bringing up a daughter is like watering the neighbour's garden'. One of the most effective ways to change this mindset would be to reduce gender gaps in wages and financial autonomy. BBBP must promote the positive standpoint that daughters are just as capable as their male siblings in providing social and economic security for parents in their older ages.

Deep-rooted cultural attitudes often undermine the implementation of women's empowerment policies—such as women's right to property—necessitating community engagement led by local leaders and influencers to challenge and transform the unequal norms rooted in patriarchy.

The BBBP scheme has undoubtedly been a step in the right direction, but it demands more nuanced efforts beyond sloganeering and conditional cash incentives. Bargaining for gender equity within the premise of patriarchal norms may not help the cause. Slowly but steadily, we need to change the mindset.

ONOE key for our democracy, says Modi

PM cites logistical challenges of frequent polls, highlights importance of electoral system for future of the youth

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

PM Narendra Modi during the NCC rally at Cariappa Ground in New Delhi | PTI

AFTER the President of India endorsed the 'One Nation, One Election' concept on the eve of Republic Day, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday called upon the country's youth to discuss the proposal because elections every few months posed significant challenges to institutions and the economy.

Addressing a National Cadet Corps (NCC) rally, the Prime Minister urged the youth, including NCC cadets and National Service Scheme (NSS) volunteers, to actively engage in and promote discussions on 'One Nation, One Election'.

Modi highlighted the importance of the electoral system for the future of the youth: "Today, there is an important debate about 'One Nation, One Election'. Holding simultaneous elections to the Lok Sabha and state assemblies could alleviate disruptions and enable more focused governance."

The Prime Minister emphasised that Lok Sabha and Vidhan Sabha elections were conducted simultaneously until 1967, but changed since then, leading to major challenges for the country. He emphasised that frequent elections require repeated voter list updation and involve tasks that disrupt teachers' duties, studies, and exam preparations.

Citing examples of countries like the United States, Modi pointed out that their government formation dates were fixed, with elections held every four years. He reminded them it was similar to student council elections, which were held in colleges in one go.

Speaking about the role of India's youth, PM Modi called them a force for global good and urged them to focus on Viksit Bharat (developed India) during this amritkaal.

"In this 'Amrit kaal', we must keep only one goal in mind – Viksit Bharat. The criterion for every decision and action should be a developed India. For this, we must always remember our 'Panch Pranas' to develop India: to get freedom from every thought of slavery, to be proud of heritage, to work for the unity of India and to perform duties honestly", the Prime Minister asserted.

BJP central team discusses proposal

The second meeting of the BJP's central team on 'One Nation One Election' chaired by Union minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan on Monday reiterated the need to propagate the message of simultaneous Lok Sabha and Vidhan Sabha elections across the country. Anil K Antony, one of the members, said on X: "The ONOE proposal is most progressive reforms... seeks to synchronize national and state elections, reducing disruptions, lowering financial burdens, and improving overall governance."

He added, "I appeal to the NCC cadets, volunteers, and all youngsters across the country – wherever you are, take this debate forward. It is directly linked to your future."

Stressing the importance of youth involvement in politics, Modi encouraged innovative ideas and noted, "I had said from the Red Fort that one lakh youngsters should join politics. The future of the world cannot be imagined without India's youngsters. That is why I call you a force for global good."

Modi highlighted the increase in the number of NCC cadets, which grew from 14 lakh in 2014 to 20 lakh now, including over eight lakh girl cadets. He mentioned the government's efforts over the past decade to remove obstacles faced by youth, enhancing their potential further.

He also pointed out NCC's expansion to border and coastal districts, covering over 170 border talukas and nearly 100 coastal talukas. Modi emphasised that India's youth will drive and determine the country's and the world's development in the 21st century.

He said the government was removing the obstacles faced by the country's youth in the last 10 years, leading to further enhancement of their potential.

'BJP will come to power with 2/3rd majority in Delhi'

BJP national vice-president and Delhi in-charge Baijayant 'Jay' Panda predicts that the party will come to power with a two-thirds majority, asserting that people want 'double-engine' and 'conflict-free' governance in the national capital. He tells Rajesh Kumar Thakur that there is widespread public resentment against AAP over lack of development and unfulfilled promises. Excerpts:

How is the josh (enthusiasm)?

The josh is exceptionally high. You can see it in the mood of our karyakartas (workers). There is severe anti-incumbency against the ruling 'AAPda' (disaster). Ten years and three elections of false promises on roads, public transport, Yamuna, drinking water, or improvement in slum areas have exposed 'AAPda'. Public anger is immense. The people feel they have given chances to Congress and AAP. The mood has inspired our workers and created enthusiasm among people. Delhi wants to become 'AAPda-mukt' and bloom under BJP's lotus, as PM Modi has guaranteed development.

Can the BJP replicate its success in Odisha and come to power in Delhi after 27 years?

Our prospect is significant this time. People have tried Congress and AAP, but both failed to deliver. They have decided to change the 'AAPda' and give BJP a chance. As in Odisha, where regional parties dominated, BJP's focus on performance and fulfilling promises will bring change in Delhi. There's an old saying, "You can fool all the people some of the time, some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time." The people of Delhi now want BJP to form the government.

How many seats are BJP likely to win?

I don't want to quote a number, but the response from various sections — slums, businesspeople, the middle class, auto drivers, and women — is overwhelming. People have seen the country progress under PM Modi. Delhi hasn't kept pace under 'AAPda'. Feedback suggests the BJP will win comfortably with two-thirds majority.

AAP says BJP doesn't have a face to match Arvind Kejriwal's stature...

The situation is precisely the opposite. The 'AAPda' has no face as almost all of their leaders face corruption charges, with strict bail conditions preventing Kejriwal from functioning as CM. Classroom, medical and other scams have exposed the AAP leadership. The BJP believes in collective leadership; any hardworking worker can rise to the top. Once a tea seller, PM Modi is now the world's most popular leader.

How does BJP's manifesto differ from that of AAP?

Unlike AAP's, which remain largely unimplemented, we always fulfil ours. Our manifesto ensures corruption-free, inclusive development, while AAP's lacks intent and integrity.

The AAP accuses the BJP of blocking Central funds and targeting its leaders through agencies.

Their allegations are baseless. Their leaders spent months in jail because of court decisions. Now, bail isn't denied unless there is clear evidence of corruption and money trails. Look at the CAG report, which BJP has not prepared. The AAP, not the BJP, has committed the scams in the capital. AAP leaders have a habit of doing drama and blaming others.

Your view on PM Modi's frequent visits to Odisha?

PM Modi fulfils his promises. His visits to Odisha reflect his commitment to neglected regions. Like the Northeast, which saw tremendous development under his leadership, Odisha is witnessing similar progress. His visits ensure accountability and ensure developments in the state.

The delay in electing the Odisha BJP chief has raised questions.

There's no delay. BJP's grassroots process requires elections from district to state levels before the national president's election. In Odisha, district president results have recently been finalised, and the state president will follow soon.

What is your view on the 'One Nation One Election'?

It is key to governance. Frequent elections hinder administrative focus. The Waqf Bill and UCC align with constitutional principles.

Trump crackdown on New York gurudwaras for 'undocumented aliens'

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

OFFICIALS from US Department of Homeland Security (DHS) have visited gurudwaras in New York and New Jersey to search for 'undocumented aliens', eliciting strong reactions from the community.

Shortly after Donald Trump took office as the 47th President of the US, acting DHS Secretary Benjamine Huffman issued a directive that reversed guidelines established under former President Biden. These guidelines had previously restricted enforcement actions by Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) and Customs and Border Protection (CBP) near sensitive locations, including places of worship such as gurudwaras.

The now-rescinded guidelines aimed to prevent ICE and CBP from conducting enforcement operations in or near such areas. A spokesperson for the DHS defended the move, saying it gave CBP and ICE officers greater authority to enforce immigration laws and apprehend criminals, including those convicted of serious crimes like murder.

"Criminals will no longer be able to hide in America's schools and churches to avoid arrest. The Trump administration will not tie the hands of our law enforcement and trusts them to use common sense," the spokesperson said.

Sikh-American bodies voice concern over order

The Trump administration's decision has raised concerns within the Sikh community, with fears that these enforcement actions could discourage individuals from seeking the vital support and spiritual solace offered by gurdwaras. "The idea that gurdwaras could be subject to government surveillance and raids by armed law enforcement, with or without warrants, is unacceptable to Sikh tradition," a Sikh organisation criticised.

The decision has raised concerns within the Sikh community, with fears that these actions could discourage individuals from seeking spiritual solace offered by gurudwaras.

The Sikh American Legal Defense and Education Fund (SALDEF) voiced serious concern over the directive, pointing out reports indicating that DHS agents visited gurudwaras in New York and New Jersey days after the policy change.

SALDEF executive director Kiran Kaur Gill, said: "These are not just places of worship, but vital community centres that provide spiritual solace to Sikhs and the community. We are alarmed by the decision to remove protections for sensitive areas and then target them."

India, China to resume direct flight service, Mansarovar yatra

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

INDIA and China have agreed upon a slew of people-centric measures to stabilise and rebuild the relationship between two nations following an agreement last October aimed at easing tensions along the border during a two-day visit of Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri to Beijing that ended on Monday.

These measures to normalise the relationship include an in-principle agreement to restart direct air services, resume the Kailash Mansarovar Yatra, revive mechanisms for trans-border rivers, and increase people-to-people exchanges.

The two sides have also agreed to a number of commemorative activities to mark the 75th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations, a Ministry of External Affairs release said.

"The two sides agreed to take appropriate measures to further promote and facilitate people-to-people exchanges, including media and think-tank interactions. They agreed in principle to resume direct air services between the two countries; the relevant technical authorities on the two sides will meet and negotiate an updated framework for this purpose at an early date", the release said.

"As agreed between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and President Xi Jinping at their meeting in Kazan in October, Foreign Secretary and Chinese Vice Foreign Minister Sun Weidong reviewed the state of India-China bilateral relations comprehensively and agreed to take certain people-centric steps to stabilise and rebuild ties", it said.

> The two sides agreed to take measures to further facilitate people-to-people exchanges... agreed in principle to resume direct air services between the two countries; and negotiate an updated framework for this purpose at an early date — Ministry of External Affairs release

The two sides also agreed to hold an early meeting of India-China Expert Level Mechanism to discuss resumption of provision of hydrological data and other cooperation pertaining to trans-border rivers.

"Specific concerns in economic and trade areas were discussed with a view to resolve these issues and promote long-term policy transparency and predictability," the release said.

Since India and China reached an understanding on the disengagement of forces on October 21 last year, the two sides have revitalised several mechanisms to address long-standing border disputes and normalise relations, which had fallen to new lows.

During his visit, Foreign Secretary Misri held talks with Foreign Minister Wang Yi, and Minister of International Department Liu Jianchao. As per a Chinese foreign ministry readout, Wang said the two sides should "meet each other halfway" and "commit to mutual understanding and support," while avoiding "mutual suspicion and alienation."

Wang also said the "improvement and development of China-India relations is in line with the fundamental interests of the two countries" and would be "conducive to safeguarding the legitimate rights and interests of the Global South."

India, Indonesia Navy hold talks on security ties

TO further strengthen the growing ties between India and Indonesia, Admiral Muhammad Ali, Chief of Staff of the Indonesian Navy, is on an official visit to India as part of the high-level delegation accompanying President Prabowo Subianto, the Chief Guest for the Republic Day Parade 2025.

A statement from the Ministry of Defence on Monday said, "During his visit, Admiral (Adm) Muhammad Ali and Adm Dinesh K Tripathi, Chief of the Naval Staff held bilateral interactions to deepen maritime cooperation and strengthen ties between the two close maritime neighbours."

"The key areas of discussion between the two naval leaders included advancing joint initiatives like Exercise Samudra Shakti, strengthening operational collaboration, and addressing shared maritime challenges, including piracy and other illegal activities at sea", the MoD added.

The visit also included engagements at key maritime establishments such as the Information Fusion Centre - Indian Ocean Region (IFC-IOR) and the Weapons and Electronics Systems and Engineering Establishment (WESEE), "focusing on enhancing regional collaboration and maritime domain awareness".

The WESEE, established in 1985, has chipped in significantly in successful indigenisation pertaining to the weapons, electronic Systems and Information security.

As for the IFC-IOR, inaugurated in December 2018, was established keeping in mind the significance of the Indian Ocean to world trade and security. Nearly 75% of the world's maritime trade and 50% of global oil passes through the Indian Ocean Region.

However, the region is troubled by maritime terrorism, piracy, human and contraband trafficking, illegal and unregulated fishing, arms running and poaching. India aims to meet these challenges with enhanced situational awareness, enabling security agencies to function effectively and help disseminate important information to ally countries. IFC-IOR is tasked to collate, fuse and disseminate intelligence on 'White Shipping' in the Indian Ocean.

Discussion on Brahmos deal, to be finalised soon

Sources confirmed on Monday that there were talks on Brahmos and the deal may get sealed in the near future with a high-level delegation slated to visit India. During his current visit, "Admiral Muhammad Ali also visited the BrahMos Aerospace Private Limited (BAPL) and exchanged ideas and insights on further strengthening bilateral cooperation in the area of defence and strategy," the defense ministry said in a statement.

The sources said, Indonesia is to base its Liaison Officer at the IFC IOR in future.

In another move to bolster the defence ties, and first reported by this newspaper, Indonesia's defence ministry has sent a letter regarding a $450 million BrahMos deal to the Indian embassy in Jakarta.

The MoD said Admiral Muhammad Ali's engagements with the Indian Navy and defence stakeholders reflect a shared commitment to fostering regional cooperation.

SC asks Centre to 'do something' in making snakebite treatment available

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

NOTING that snakebites were prevalent throughout the country, the Supreme Court on Monday asked the Centre to take states on board to "do something" in making treatment available in medical facilities.

A bench of Justice B R Gavai and Justice S V N Bhatti was hearing a plea that said the country faced a significant public health crisis due to the scarcity of anti-venom, crucial in treating snakebites.

The bench said the country faces a public health crisis due to scarcity of anti-venom. "Hold a meeting with the representatives of the states and try to do something," the bench told the Centre's counsel.

The counsel said the government would place on record its steps taken on the issue. The lawyers of some states said they would file their counter affidavit in the matter following which the bench granted them six weeks.

On December 13 last year, the court sought responses from the Centre and others on the plea filed by Shailendra Mani Tripathi, an advocate. The plea sought directions to make available anti-venom and snakebite treatment at health centres and medical colleges to save lives.

The plea argued India with the highest rate of snakebite deaths globally recorded about 58,000 fatalities each year. "Despite the high mortality rate there is scarcity of anti-venom (polyvenom)," it argued.

The plea said rural areas lack adequate stocks of anti-venom, leading to delays in treatment. It sought directions to conduct snakebite prevention and public awareness campaigns to reduce mortality, besides directions to establish snakebite treatment units in district hospitals.

U'khand 1st state to implement UCC, portal launched

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

UTTARAKHAND has become the first state in India to adopt a Uniform Civil Code (UCC), a groundbreaking decision designed to guarantee equal rights for all citizens, irrespective of their religious backgrounds. CM Pushkar Singh Dhami inaugurated the UCC portal on Monday, marking the beginning of a new era of legal uniformity in the Himalayan state. "This initiative is a significant step towards ensuring justice and equality for every citizen," Dhami said.

The UCC aims to replace outdated personal laws that have long perpetuated inequality, fostering a more inclusive society. After Goa, which has a pre-independence UCC in place, Uttarakhand is now the first BJP-ruled state to draft and establish a UCC. "As Uttarakhand sets this precedent, it may inspire other states to consider similar reforms, potentially igniting a nationwide movement towards social justice and equal rights," Dhami said.

In his address following the announcement, the chief minister said, "The credit for the 'Ganga' of UCC flowing from Uttarakhand goes to the divine people of Devbhoomi Uttarakhand." He remarked, "From this moment, the women of Devbhoomi have attained equal rights."

Dhami stated that the UCC is a solution to eliminate discrimination in legal matters based on caste, religion, sect, and gender. He emphasized that its implementation will strengthen women's empowerment and put an end to practices such as 'halala' and 'iddat'.

In a strong reaction against the implementation of the UCC, the Muslim Sewa Sangthan, along with Tanzeem-e-Rahnuma-e-Millat and Jamiat Ulema-e-Hind said they will knock on the court doors as soon as it reopens after the holidays.

Parents not keen on death to Roy

RG KAR RAPE-MURDER: Calcutta HC reserves verdict on pleas moved by Bengal govt & CBI

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @ Kolkata

WITH the West Bengal government and the CBI moving separate pleas in the Calcutta High Court seeking death for RG Kar hospital rape-murder convict Sanjay Roy, the victim's parents said on Monday that they are not demanding capital punishment for Roy for now as they want other accused to be punished.

They claimed that if Roy is awarded death sentence, other "accused will not get any punishment".

Speaking to reporters after the hearing on the admissibility of parallel petitions by the CBI and the state government, the victim's father said, "We want the names of all those behind my daughter's death to surface. We want the highest punishment for all of them and not just for Sanjay Roy. So we are not seeking capital punishment for Sanjay Roy now. The rest will be explained by our counsel."

Counsel Shamim Ahmed said that the victim's parents have been expressing dissatisfaction over the progress of the investigation by the CBI for a long time. "Even a special court in Kolkata recently expressed dissatisfaction over the progress of the investigation. We are still maintaining that the names of the real brains behind the crime are yet to surface and hence we are not seeking the highest punishment for Sanjay Roy now," he said.

> The parents want the investigating agency to submit the chargesheet for the rest of the accused involved in this case as quickly as possible, and initiate their trial process without any further delay.
>
> Gargi Goswami, counsel

Gargi Goswami, advocate on record for the victim's parents, said they want the trial process of the other accused in the case to start without delay. "The parents want the investigating agency to submit the chargesheet for the rest of the accused involved in this case as quickly as possible, and initiate their trial process without any further delay. They are of the opinion that all those who are involved in the murder of their daughter need not be given capital punishment simply because they killed her. They want the highest punishment as awarded by the trial court to the convict to stay," she said.

The victim's father said they want the severest punishment as envisaged in law to all those who were involved in the crime and were part of the larger conspiracy. Asked whether he still retained faith in the CBI, he said, "The Kolkata Police had let us down by conducting a probe full of loopholes. That's why the high court handed over the investigation to the CBI. It is evident from the trial court judgment that the CBI, too, failed to do its job properly. We do not know who else to repose our faith on. We will keep our faith on whichever institution is able to deliver us proper justice."

The parents, claiming a larger conspiracy alongside efforts to shield possible masterminds, have moved the Supreme Court for intervention. The apex court is likely to hear the matter on Wednesday.

On January 20, the Sealdah sessions court sentenced Roy, the sole convict in the rape and murder crime of an on-duty trainee doctor at RG Kar hospital on August 9 last year, to rigorous life imprisonment till the end of his natural life.

A Special Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) court in Chandigarh on Monday sentenced Himachal Pradesh Inspector General of Police Zahur Haider Zaidi and seven police personnel to life imprisonment in a case of custodial death of an accused in a gang rape and murder of a 16-year-old schoolgirl in Kotkhai of the hill state.

The seven are, then-Deputy Superintendent of Police Manoj Joshi, Sub-Inspector Rajinder Singh, Assistant Sub-Inspector Deep Chand Sharma, Mohan Lal, Surat Singh, Rafee Mohammad and Ranit Sateta.

The court also recommended awarding compensation to family members of the victim, Suraj Singh. On January 18, the court convicted all the accused and acquitted the then Superintendent of Police D W Negi. On July 4, 2017, the 16-year-old girl went missing in Kotkhai near Shimla, and her body was found from the forests two days later. The postmortem report confirmed rape and murder. The government, under pressure of a public outcry, set up a Special Investigating Team headed by Zaidi.

Chhaava director says dance scenes to be cut

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AFTER Hindi film 'Chhaava' based on Chhatrapati Sambhaji Maharaj landed in a controversy with people objecting to a Lezim dance sequence involving the warrior-king and Maharani Yesubai, director Laxman Utekar on Monday decided to delete the scenes.

Amid the row, Utekar met MNS president Raj Thackeray and decided to delete the dance sequence. "Lezim is a traditional Maharashtrian dance... but, yes, we have decided to delete the dance sequence because of the public sentiments," Utekar said, adding he had no intentions to hurt anyone.

Later, state Industries Minister and Shiv Sena leader Uday Samant, who had objected to the dance sequence, welcomed the decision. "The controversy over the dance sequence in the film Chhava is now coming to an end... the producers and directors of the film have removed the dance sequence," said Samant. Sambhaji Maharaj is the son of Maratha warrior Chhatrapati Shivaji. The film is slated to be released on February 14.

At Cong's Jai Samvidhan rally, Rahul takes on BJP for 'insulting' Ambedkar

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

CANTONMENT town Mhow, which houses the birthplace of Indian Constitution's architect Dr BR Ambedkar in BJP-ruled Madhya Pradesh's Indore district, on Monday hosted the opposition Congress's second Jai Bapu-Jai Bhim-Jai Samvidhan mega rally.

While the Lok Sabha LoP Rahul Gandhi accused RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat of insulting Dr Ambedkar and the country's Constitution with the January 13 "true independence" remarks, the Congress's national president Mallikarjun Kharge slammed Home Minister Amit Shah over his December 16 remarks about Dr Ambedkar in the Rajya Sabha.

On a day when Amit Shah took a holy dip in the Triveni Sangam (confluence of three sacred rivers) in the ongoing Maha Kumbh in UP's Prayagraj, the Congress president, without taking names, questioned, "Can taking dips in the Ganga river remove poverty?"

Addressing the rally in Mhow, around 50 km from Indore city, Gandhi said, "This is an ideological battle between the Congress and the RSS-BJP. While the Congress believes in the country's Constitution and is fighting for it, the BJP-RSS is against it."

Accusing Bhagwat of attacking the country's independence and Constitution with his January 13 "true independence" remarks, Gandhi said, "Always remember the day our Constitution is destroyed, there will be nothing left for poor, Dalits, tribals and backward sections in the country."

"Bhagwat Ji said that the present Constitution has nothing to do with attaining independence, as the real independence was ushered in only after Modi Ji came. This amounts to an insult of Dr BR Ambedkar and a direct attack on the Constitution," he added.

IN a sophisticated cybercrime operation on the outskirts of Vadodara, criminals posing as cyber cell officers kidnapped a prominent social media influencer and subjected him to digital extortion. The incident raised concerns about the vulnerability of social media entrepreneurs and their digital assets.

Ramji Srivastav, 28, known to his followers as 'Stockexploder,' fell victim to an elaborate scheme while en route to a Coldplay music concert in Ahmedabad. The Vidisha-based financial content creator, who manages a substantial following on Instagram and Telegram through his stock market educational content, was forcibly removed from a private bus on January 25 by five individuals travelling in a black Scorpio.

The victim told the police that the perpetrators masquerading as Cyber Cell officers approached Srivastav on the pretext of investigating a complaint. They claimed that one of his followers had suffered losses exceeding ₹1 crore due to his stock market advice. The criminals then transported him to an undisclosed location, where they revealed their true intention of gaining unauthorised access to his social media.

What sets this case apart is the criminals' sophisticated understanding of digital assets. Srivastav, who operates his business through a network of 16 mobile phones with an iPhone as the primary server, was specifically targeted for his extensive social media presence. The perpetrators seized two of his phones and linked their SIM cards to his social media accounts, gaining access to his broad follower base.

"This appears to be a meticulously planned operation targeting not just physical assets but digital infrastructure," said Police Inspector AK Bharwad, heading the investigation. The victim stated, "The perpetrators showed specific interest in gaining control of the victim's social media accounts, suggesting their ultimate goal might be to defraud his followers."

The Vadodara Rural Police has launched a search for the unidentified suspects. They stand charged with multiple sections of the Bharatiya Nyay Samhita and the Information Technology Act, including charges of criminal intimidation and wrongful confinement.

It disrupted his business operations, and he missed the Coldplay concert on January 26. Law enforcement authorities are particularly concerned about the potential for the perpetrators to exploit Srivastav's follower base for fraudulent activities. This case highlights the evolving nature of cyber-enabled crimes, where criminals combine traditional kidnapping tactics with digital theft, targeting individuals with massive online presence and valuable digital assets.

Victim: Ramji Srivastav, aka 'Stockexploder,' a well-known financial content creator

BJP bets big on 'Chaiwala', gives ticket for Raigarh mayoral seat

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THE Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) has fielded 46-year-old Jeevardhan Chauhan, a tea-seller by occupation, as its candidate for the reserved Scheduled Caste (SC) mayoral seat in the upcoming elections for Raigarh Municipal Corporation in Chhattisgarh.

The decision is believed to be a strategic move, leveraging the popular "Chaiwala" narrative associated with Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who once sold tea at a railway station in Vadnagar.

Chauhan, a senior party worker with 29 years of experience in the BJP, continues to run his tea stall despite holding various positions within the party in Raigarh, including serving as an alderman.

His candidacy has drawn widespread attention, with BJP leaders highlighting it as a testament to the party's inclusivity and connection with the common people.

"The decision reflects why the BJP is known as a party with a difference. Jeevardhan Chauhan's leadership, experience, and accessibility will benefit the people of Raigarh. The term 'Chaiwala' is not just a campaign slogan but a symbol of empowerment. This move will not only help in Raigarh but also strengthen the party's presence across urban bodies going to polls," said Pankaj Jha, media advisor to Chief Minister Vishnu Deo Sai.

Expressing gratitude for his nomination, Chauhan said, "I come from a poor family and understand the needs of common people. I have been running my tea-stall in Raigarh for the past 27 years. I am honoured that the party found me capable of contesting for the mayoral seat. We will fight and win with the support of the people."

However, the opposition Congress dismissed the BJP's move as political propaganda aimed at masking its failures ahead of the elections. "This is nothing more than an attempt to rebrand their candidate as a 'Chaiwala' like Narendra Modi. It is a symbolic strategy that does not address real issues," said Sushil Anand Shukla, chairman of the Congress media cell.

The urban body elections in Chhattisgarh will be held in one phase on February 11, with the counting of votes scheduled for February 15. The polls, conducted through Electronic Voting Machines, will cover 10 municipal corporations, 49 municipalities, and 114 nagar panchayats.

COLOMBIA CAVES AFTER TRUMP THREAT, ACCEPTS CITIZENS DEPORTED FROM US

WASHINGTON

COLOMBIA on Sunday backed down and agreed to accept deported citizens sent on US military aircraft, hours after President Donald Trump threatened painful tariffs to punish the defiance to his mass deportation plans.

Colombia's leftist president, Gustavo Petro, had earlier said he would only take back citizens "with dignity," such as on civilian planes, and had turned back two US military aircraft with repatriated Colombians.

Trump, less than a week back in office, responded furiously and threatened sanctions of 25 percent that would quickly scale up to 50 percent against Latin America's fourth largest economy. Petro initially sought to hit back and impose his own tariffs on US products, but by the end of the volatile Sunday he had backed down.

Colombian Foreign Minister Luis Gilberto Murillo told a late-night news conference that his country had "overcome the impasse" and would accept returned citizens.

A White House statement said that Colombia has agreed to "unrestricted acceptance of all illegal aliens from Colombia returned from the United States, including on US military aircraft, without limitation or delay." "Today's events make clear to the world that America is respected again," it said.

"President Trump will continue to fiercely protect our nation's sovereignty, and he expects all other nations of the world to fully cooperate in accepting the deportation of their citizens illegally present in the United States."

Trump said he would suspend implementation of the tariffs.

It had been unclear even earlier how quickly Trump could impose tariffs on Colombia, historically one of Washington's closest allies in Latin America, which enjoys a free-trade agreement with the United States.

Secretary of State Marco Rubio, whose wife is Colombian-American, suspended issuance of visas at the US embassy in Bogota and said visas would be revoked to Colombian government officials and their immediate family members.

The White House said the visa measures would stay in place until the first planeload of deportees returns.

Trump also vowed to subject Colombians to greater scrutiny at US airports.

Brazil, which is also led by a left-wing president, voiced outrage over treatment by the Trump administration of dozens of Brazilian migrants deported back to their country on Friday. The migrants, who were deported under a bilateral agreement predating Trump's return, were handcuffed on the flight, in what Brazil called "flagrant disregard" for their basic rights. About 88 migrants were deported. AFP

Bear tightens grip over market

Indices decline over 1% on weak global cues, uncertainty surrounding US trade policy

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

THE equity market began the crucial budget week with significant declines and heightened volatility. The benchmark indices, BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty, dropped over 1% each, while broader indices plunged as much as 4%, raising widespread concerns among investors.

At close, the Sensex was down 824.29 points or 1.08% at 75,366.17, and the Nifty fell 263.05 points or 1.14% to settle at 22,829.15.The NIFTY Midcap 100 index fell 2.75% and the smallcap index cracked nearly 4%.

Owing to Monday's fall, investors lost nearly ₹10 lakh crore in a single session as the overall market capitalisation (m-cap) of BSE listed firms came down to ₹411 lakh crore from ₹421 lakh crore in the previous session.

The volatility index, INDIA VIX, rose by 8.28% settling at 18.13, signaling increased market volatility.

Monday's fall is attributed to weak global cues and uncertainty surrounding US trade policy under the new president Donald Trump. The US President is coming up with new threats like the 25 % tariff on Columbia for its refusal to take back deported illegal immigrants. He has already threatened 25% tariff on Canada and Mexico.

Pressure seen in US tech heavy index Nasdaq (future) was also passed to the Asian and emerging markets. The launch and immense popularity of a free, open-source AI model by Chinese startup DeepSeek is being seen a threat to large US tech players by investors.

"DeepSeek's release of a free, open-source AI model, reportedly matching ChatGPT's capabilities at a fraction of the development cost, has sent shockwaves through the technology sector. NASDAQ is expected to open 4% lower, with AI-focused stocks like NVIDIA facing pressure… The repercussions of DeepSeek's AI launch and Trump's abrupt tariff announcement on the Colombia were particularly pronounced in the Indian markets," said Devarsh Vakil - Head of Prime Research, HDFC Securities.

Vakil added that market sentiment is on edge as investors brace for Wednesday's Federal Reserve rate decision and accompanying policy guidance. This unease is fueled by mixed earnings reports, geopolitical tensions and impending Union Budget, all of which have contributed to prevailing uncertainty. There are concerns in the market that a populist budget may add further pressure to the market as it will put pressure on fiscal deficit and weaken the already weak rupee.

Smallcap index sheds more than 13% in January

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INVESTORS are dumping smallcap stocks like never before. So far in January 2025, the Nifty Smallcap 100 has plummeted by over 13%, its worst monthly fall since the COVID-19 pandemic month of March 2020. The Nifty midcap 100 index is also under pressure and has declined 9.45% this month.

Over the past five trading sessions, the Nifty Small-cap 100 has shed 9%, significantly underperforming the benchmark Nifty's 2% decline. The sharp fall in smallcap stocks comes after years of outperformance. Experts said a large number of midcap and smallcap stocks are unable to justify their valuations. December quarter results reported by small-cap companies in the past few days are far below street estimates. As per Trendlyne data, 85 stocks in the Nifty Smallcap 100 index are currently trading 20% to 60% lower than their respective one-year highs.

UNICORN

Sridhar Vembu steps down as CEO of Zoho

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

SaaS unicorn Zoho Corp's cofounder Sridhar Vembu will step down as the company's CEO and assume a new role as Chief Scientist. He will be responsible for the company's R&D initiatives.

Vembu in a post on X said, "In view of the various challenges and opportunities facing us, including recent major developments in AI, it has been decided that it is best that I should focus full time on R&D initiatives, along with pursuing my personal rural development mission."

The company's co-founder Shailesh Kumar Davey will serve as the new group CEO and another co-founder Tony Thomas will lead Zoho US. Rajesh Ganesan will lead the company's ManageEngine division and Mani Vembu will lead the Zoho.com division. "The future of our company entirely depends on how well we navigate the research & development challenge," he added in the post.

The Chennai-headquartered tech company last year announced its foray into the Open Network for Digital Commerce (ONDC) network. Vembu in an interaction with TNIE had said that he expects India to be the company's largest market in terms of revenue in another ten years.

Currently, India is the company's second largest after the US. "New vendors do very well in the growing market as new customers are easier to persuade," Vembu had said, adding that he is also bullish on Global Capability Centre's (GCC) boom in the country.

Govt invites applications for Sebi chief

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE finance ministry has invited applications for the position of new chairperson for markets regulator Sebi, as incumbent Madhabi Puri Buch's three-year tenure ends on February 28.

"The government invites applications from eligible candidates for filling up the post of chairman in Securities and Exchange Board of India. The appointment shall be made for a maximum period of five years from the date of assumption of charge or till the appointee attains 65 years, whichever is earlier," reads the advertisement put out by the department of economic affairs (financial markets division) on Monday.

The new appointee can choose to receive pay as admissible to a secretary to the government, or a consolidated monthly salary of ₹5,62,500, without a house and car, the advertisement adds.

The ministry has sought applications till February 17.

Buch assumed office on March 2, 2022, for a period of three years. Prior to this, she was a whole-time member of Sebi for five years from April 2017 to March 2022.

Buch's was the only regulator who was accused of serious malpractices in the nature of non-disclosure of his sources of income and investments made before joining the Sebi, apart from being accused of giving favourable treatment to some companies where engaged her husband Dhaval Buch in August 2024. These allegations were made by New York-based short-seller Hindenburg after it alleged that Adani group made insider trading and stock price rigging. It last week announced closure of its business, which was primarily targeting companies with damaging reports even as it held short-positions in those companies' stocks.

She faced allegations from Congress regarding her investments in offshore funds linked to the Adani Group, code of conduct violations. Further, a section of Sebi employees also accused her of creating a toxic work environment though that matter has now been resolved.

The government usually gives a three-year tenure to regulators be it the RBI or Sebi or Irdai. Even the tenor of the heads of state-run banks and other companies are extended for three years, in the first term.

Application deadline for Sebi chief till February 17

The finance ministry has sought applications till February 17. The new appointee can choose to receive pay as admissible to a secretary to the government, or a consolidated monthly salary of ₹5,62,500, without a house and car, according to the advertisement.

With new unit, KASFAB Tools looks to serve global mkts

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE
@ Bengaluru

BENGALURU-headquartered KASFAB Tools Pvt Ltd on Monday launched India's first manufacturing facility dedicated to building semiconductor equipment for global customers. With an initial investment of Rs 20 crore, the 20,000-sq ft state-of-the-art greenfield space in Doddaballapur will cater to demand from global semiconductor chip (tier-I) equipment suppliers, providing them with a host of deposition, or curing tools for the semiconductor process. Accordingly, KASFAB Tools -- a KAS group company under UHP Technologies & KASTECH Equipment -- has already signed its first customer, a US-based firm, for whom it is contracted to ship 53 equipment within a year. This first contract is valued at Rs 20 crore, KASFAB Tools MD Manjunath Jyothinagara said.

Projections for FY2025-26 forecast Rs 50 crore in revenues, with expectations for exponential growth in the coming years, as the company continues to scale.

The KAS Group will invest significantly in KASFAB Tools, beginning with the said Rs 20 crore in its initial phase, followed by an additional Rs 250 crore towards subsequent expansion. "This strategic move aims to tap a global market valued at $25 billion, with the Indian semiconductor ecosystem poised to reach Rs 2,500 crore within the next 3-5 years," the company stated. Mentioning that KASFAB Tools is eyeing its manufacturing to expand ten-fold in future, Jyothinagara said, "We are value-chain partners in supporting the tier-I equipment-makers by building equipment for them, and they will add their recipe, software, and IP, before handing it over to the chipmakers."

"The first contract is proof of concept. The moment this becomes successful, we look to expand it to 10X... which will happen the moment we're able to get through our second contract. Hopefully, we can decide in a year, and expand to 2 lakh sq ft, for which we have equity investors in line," he said, adding that the expansion could happen in Doddaballapur, or Narasapura in Kolar district. Also, the second contract could be from a Japanese or American equipment-maker, with a contract size of Rs 30 crore, he hinted.

The overall semiconductor chip equipment market is valued at $125 billion, with the contract manufacturing segment valued at $25 billion. With its first-of-its-kind infrastructure in India, capable of supporting industry giants, KASFAB Tools looks to collaborate with players like Applied Materials, LAM Research, Tokyo Electron, and Yield Engineering Systems, among others.

Crypto industry expects simple tax structures, compliance in budget '25

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

WITH Bitcoin prices continuing to rise and US President Donald Trump's order of creating a cryptocurrency working group, the virtual assets industry in India says the momentum is building up and that the country should remain in the forefront. They expect the upcoming Budget to introduce a clear compliance framework and simplified tax structures.

Though in 2022, the Budget provided some clarity to crypto ecosystem, it brought challenges with taxation. Edul Patel, cofounder & CEO of Mudrex said, "The 1% TDS on crypto transactions led many investors and traders to turn towards foreign exchanges, making it harder for the government to track activity. Additionally, the inability to offset losses against gains has further discouraged investor participation."

The crypto industry is looking forward to a more balanced and progressive approach that would encourage innovation and support sustainable growth for the sector. Crypto exchanges expect a reduction in TDS to 0.01% and the allowance for offsetting losses as it could benefit investors and drive positive momentum in the industry.

Nikhil Sethi, founder & MD, Zuvomo, said Budget 2025 is a critical moment for India to reclaim its leadership in the global tech ecosystem. "India ranks No.1 in the number of crypto holders and No.3 in tech unicorns globally. Yet, we seem to have missed Web3 tsunami, which doubled its market cap in 2024 and saw DeFi TVL surge by 2000% year-on-year. Ambiguity in crypto compliance and a regressive tax regime have hindered innovation, pushing startups and talent overseas," he said.

"Approval of Bitcoin and Ethereum ETFs in the US in 2024 underlines the importance of forward-looking regulations. In a country with thousands of tech startups, a thriving ecosystem and globally leading talent, the crypto industry expects balanced taxation, clear compliance frameworks, and innovation-friendly policies," he added. Last week, Bitcoin hit a all-time high of above $1,09,000. Exchanges say it is pivotal for India to align its crypto policies with the global regulatory framework.

Exchanges expect cut in TDS to 0.01%

ITC Hotels shares to be listed on bourses on Jan 29

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

KOLKATA-based FMCG to cigarette conglomerate - ITC Ltd - on Monday announced that ITC Hotels will be listed on the stock exchanges on January 29. ITC Hotels was recently demerged from its parent entity ITC.

"Further to our letter dated 11th January, 2025, we write to advise that ITC Hotels Limited (ITCHL) has informed us today that ITCHL has received approval from the National Stock Exchange of India Limited and BSE Limited for listing and trading of its equity shares effective 29th January, 2025," said ITC in an exchange filing.

Effective January 6, 2025, ITC Hotels was demerged from ITC on January 6 and initially appeared as a placeholder entity in the indices with a fixed price of approximately Rs 260. The NSE and the BSE, using the price discovery method, held a special trading session for ITC shares to establish the value of ITC's hotel business.

Then on January 11, ITC distributed 125.11 crore equity shares of ITC Hotels to its shareholders. Shareholders of ITC will get one share for every 10 shares they hold in the company. There will be no change in the shareholding pattern of ITC.

Q3 FY25 RESULTS

CANARA BANK PROFIT RISES 12% ON NON-CORE INCOME

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

CANARA BANK on Monday posted a 12% rise in net profit to ₹4,104 crore for the December quarter despite a poor show on margins and net interest income.

Higher non-core income and better asset quality led to lower provisions for dud assets boosted state-run lender's net profit. The management of the Bengaluru-based lender told reporters in a concall on Monday that the fee income of the bank grew by 23.3% to ₹2,185 crore while the core net interest income declined close to 3% to ₹9,149 crore while net interest margins declined to 2.8% from 303%. On the asset quality front, the bank said gross bad loans declined by 105 bps to 3.34%, and the net bad loans improved by 43 bps to 0.89%. This has had the credit cost improving by 8 bps to 0.89% while the slippages ratio came down by 28 bps to 0.96%.

The bank said total business rose 9.3% to ₹24,19,171 crore, of which deposits stood at ₹13,69,465 crore, which grew 8.44% and advances stood at ₹10,49,706 crore, which was more than 10.45% of the previous year. Within the total assets, retail including agri and MSME credit grew by 12.32%.

INDIAN OIL PROFIT FALLS 76.57% ON SLUGGISH SALES

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

STATE-owned Indian Oil Corporation (IOC) on Monday reported a 76.57% decline in consolidated net profit to ₹2,115 crore for the third quarter (Q3) of the financial year 2024-25 (FY25), due to weaker refining margins and rising expenses. In the same quarter the previous year, net profit stood at ₹9,029.56 crore. Consolidated revenue from operations fell marginally by 5% to ₹2,15,522 crore, from ₹2,26,892 crore reported in the year-ago period. Expenses for the refinery remained flat at ₹219 lakh crore as against ₹2.17 lakh crore. Sequentially, expenses rose by 8.4% from ₹2.02 lakh crore. Average gross refining margin (GRM) for the Q3 dropped to $3.69 per barrelas against $13.26 per barrel in the same period of the previous year. The drop in GRM highlights the pressure on IOC's profitability due to volatile crude prices and tighter global refining spreads, the company said.

FEDERAL BANK PROFIT FALLS 5% TO ₹955 CRORE

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

PRIVATE sector lender Federal Bank on Monday reported a 5% decline in net profit at ₹955 crore for the third quarter of the current financial year.

The bank had earned a net profit of ₹1,007 crore in the same quarter a year ago. However, total income increased to ₹7,725 crore during the reporting quarter from Rs 5,593 crore in the same period a year ago, Federal Bank said in a regulatory filing.

Interest income also rose to ₹6,809 crore during the quarter under review as compared to ₹5,730 crore in the year-ago period. Operating profit grew to ₹1,559 crore compared to Rs 1,437 crore in the third quarter of previous fiscal. On the asset quality front, the bank's gross non-performing assets ratio improved to 1.95% as against 2.29% a year ago. Similarly, net NPAs, or bad loans, came down to 0.49% from 0.64% at the end of the third quarter last fiscal year. However, the overall provisions, excluding tax, tripled to ₹292 crore during the quarter from ₹91 crore a year ago. Capital Adequacy Ratio rose to 15.16% from 15.02% at the end of the third quarter of the previous financial year.

WI win Test in Pakistan for 1st time in 35 yrs

Spinner Jomel Warrican took five wickets as the West Indies won a Test match in Pakistan Monday for the first time in nearly 35 years. The West Indies won the second Test in Multan by 120 runs on day three to draw the series 1-1. Warrican finished with nine wickets in the match to give the hosts a taste of their own medicine on spinning pitches.

Coach Kotak happy to give and take wisdom

Part of coaching staff, veteran keen on lifting young guns & seniors

GOMESH S @ Chennai

Hardik Pandya (top) & batting coach Sitanshu Kotak | SPORTZPICS/PTI

IN the aftermath of the Border-Gavaskar Trophy defeat Down Under, one of the first changes made with regards to the Indian team is the addition of Sitanshu Kotak as batting coach for the ongoing series against England. Kotak, a veteran coach from the National Cricket Academy, has worked with the A teams as well as the second string teams in the past, but this time, he is with the senior team, working alongside head coach Gautam Gambhir.

While he needs no introduction to the players — most of them have either been part of the A sides or visited the Centre of Excellence in Bengaluru — Kotak is nicely settling into the role and is excited about this stint. For him, it is all about identifying individual batters' plan and working according to that, especially with the fast-paced nature of the white-ball formats. "Every individual has their own unique way of playing the game. There are a lot of different things they look at," Kotak explained in Rajkot ahead of the third T20I against England. "Abhishek (Sharma) is someone who is great with his hands, offside shots and probably all around the ground. Tilak (Varma) is someone who will have very clear plans about which bowlers, how he wants to take on, where he wants to use the pace. It is not only two of them I think up to number eight, even the bowlers, we talk and we make a plan. Every player would have a different plan and they all have different areas and different ways to play. I have to just see that as long as they're comfortable and then what I can aid, where they get benefitted. Maybe not very fast, but one thing at a time," he added.

While working with the youngsters and up and coming batters is one thing, the case of seniors like Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli are different. Both proven performers are going through a lean phase, but Kotak wants to understand their way of thinking, planning and see if he can contribute in any way possible. "If I can add value to 2-5 per cent, that's a great thing. Because of the amount of cricket they've played and where they have performed, it won't be unfair to say there might be a lot of things for me to learn from them. That's the way this game goes. You have to be open and you have to be ready to learn. But if they're in a mindset, during that point of a time, if they're ready to take any inputs, yes, I would have certain things in my mind and I'll share. But it has to be the right time and they should feel that they're ready," explained Kotak.

Kotak's inclusion to the support staff comes at a time when the batters struggled in the longest format putting the likes of Abhishek Nayar, Ryan Ten Doeschate and their role under the lens.

For now, India will be looking to seal the series in Rajkot, in what is expected to be a high-scoring contest. "Normally, Rajkot is known for a good batting track. So, I think it should be a high-scoring game. I think I wouldn't say any areas we will look at because England are also coming with certain plans. They are also bowling in certain areas. So, batters will react to what they are bowling, their plans and they change their plans as well. Every team does. We also do. So, that all depends on how they can adapt to the pace of the wicket and bounce of the wicket at that time," Kotak said.

NATIONAL GAMES

Stars missing as meet begins today

Action from a Beach Handball League tie during the National Games | IOA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

STAGE is set for the National Games in Uttarakhand. A grand Opening Ceremony on Tuesday will mark the first day of the January 28-February 14 multi-discipline domestic mega event. However, the hosting of the Games in January-February when most top players are in early training mode and some junior players preparing for their board exams, has drawn some criticism for timings. And as expected top players will be giving the event a pass.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi will declare the Games Open where 32 disciplines are going to be played. Players have already stared trickling in. The sporting event will mark the 25th year of formation of the state.

The early teething issues regarding venues and selection of athletes too were slowly settling down. Swimming had their issues too with the venue and hosting of athletes, but the authorities have assured them that all outstanding issues would be addressed. If the number of participants as listed out by the organisers are to be believed, then it could well be one of the largest congregation of athletes. The number could well surpass 10,000. The sporting events will be held in across seven cities in the state — Haridwar, Nainital, Haldwani, Rudrapur, Shivpuri and New Tehri.

Uttarakhand's state bird 'Mauli' the Monal is the Games mascot. The Games will feature all the top Olympic sports like athletics, swimming, shooting, wrestling, badminton, hockey, boxing, weightlifting, football, tennis and table tennis. Alongside, some traditional games like kabaddi and kho kho will also be making an appearance.

Four sports — kalarippayattu, yogasana, mallakhambh and rafting — will be demonstration (non-medal) sports. The Indian Olympic Association had already said that Olympic sport and its importance should not be diluted by traditional sports being played as medal sport. Though stars are skipping most of the sporting disciplines, country's top shooters are expected to participate. Olympic medallist Swapnil Kusale and Sarabjot Singh are some of the top draws.

In total, 364 shooters will represent 29 teams at the National Games, making shooting the star attraction of the Games. Maharashtra topped the medals tally in the last edition held in Goa in 2023.

Railways wrestlers without pay, referees to receive TA and DA

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

STANDOFF between the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) and Railway Sports Promotion Board (RSPB) continues to haunt wrestlers even as they prepare to compete at the National Games. Only a few Railway wrestlers made it to their respective state teams for the Uttarakhand Games as the RSPB did not allow its grapplers to compete at the Bengaluru national championships organised by the WFI in December last year. Apparently, the states picked up their respective squads for the National Games based on their performances at Bengaluru nationals.

Those who won medals at the nationals were included in the squads for the Games. A few among them claimed that they have been rendered without pay since their participation in the WFI tournament. "We had to leave the ongoing Railway camp to compete in the Bengaluru event. Once we returned, we were punished on disciplinarian ground for leaving the camp. I have been without pay since then and it will continue till March," lamented a wrestler on condition of anonymity. Forced to fend for himself, the wrestler said a medal in the National Games is a dream for him and he will compete no matter if he is paid or not by his employer, in this case its Indian Railways.

While the wrestlers are suffering due to the infight between the RSPB and WFI, technical officials for wrestling competition in Uttarakhand from Railways will be treated differently. They do have to avail paid leave to be a part of the Games but at the same time they will receive travel allowance and daily allowance from the local organising committee and Games Technical Conduct Committee (GTCC).

Sources said that for the 2025 National Games, an international referee is eligible for to and fro airfare while a national referee is eligible for second AC travel. Besides, the former will be paid ₹3000 per day as a DA while the latter will receive ₹2500 as a DA. This will be additional to their salaries which they receive from the Indian Railways. The wrestling competition is scheduled from February 8 to 13 in Haridwar. "How can they make wrestlers suffer for no fault of theirs?" a WFI official told this daily. Meanwhile, the RSPB secretary, Prem Chand Lochab, did not reply to a query in this regard. It should be noted that a Greco-Roman wrestler was asked to withdraw from the Bengaluru nationals after winning his first bout.

Teething issues in swimming

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

THE Swimming Federation of India had some harrowing experience before putting out a tweet on Monday.

Their technical team had to wait before accessing the swimming venue for quite a long time, the players have been given accommodation some 40km away from the Haldwani where the event is taking place and other logistical issues were some of the grievances of SFI. "Are the National Games supposed to be a pinnacle of Indian sports performance or a circus to serve political agendas subservient to athletes well-being. Do clarify @IndiaSports @mansukhmandviya @PMOIndia," the SFI tweeted.

Monal Choksi, the SFI secretary-general, who is on his way to Uttarakhand, told this newspaper that they were forced to escalate because with just two days things seemed in disarray. "Accommodation for players is a problem because they will have to travel for one and a half to two hours each way and swimming is a physically demanding sport. They need rest," he said. But for him the main worry was the triathlon event that was advanced to January 28 from a later date in February.

Choksi said that because of that the players and officials are not getting access to the venue. "They have blocked the road and the pool was inaccessible. But now they have said they will make a dedicated lane for the swimming teams," he said. The players need to warm-up and they need access to the pool. Because it's cold the pool is thermal controlled. The players and officials are being put up at Corbett and near Nainital. "What happens if the road is blocked for some reason?" asked Choksi. Hopefully, things will be better in the coming days, he hoped.

Russian javelin coach for India

ENS/AGENCIES @ New Delhi

ATHLETICS Federation of India will have a new foreign coach for javelin — Russia's Makarov Sergey Aleksandrovich. According to AFI, the 51 years old Aleksandrovich, winner of multiple global medals, including bronze at 2000 Sydney and 2004 Athens Games, has been appointed keeping mind next Olympic Games cycle.

Chief national coach Radhakrishnan Nair said that, "The Russian javelin throw expert arrived earlier this week and will be based at Patiala's National Institute of Sports in Punjab. Aleksandrovich's vast experience as an athlete and coach will surely give fillip to development of javelin throw in the country."

At the 2024 Paris Olympic Games India's ace javelin thrower Chopra added silver medal to his kitty of gold won at the 2020 Tokyo Olympic Games.

Bumrah & Mandhana reap top ICC awards

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

JASPRIT Bumrah was named the ICC Men's Test Cricketer of the Year 2024 while Smriti Mandhana won the ICC Women's ODI Cricketer of the Year honour, the global governing body announced on Monday.

Bumrah's recognition comes on the back of a sensational all-rounder year the Indian pacer had. It started with a Test series win against England at home and ended with one of the all-time great performances by a visiting pacer Down Under. Bumrah, who was also the chief architect of India's T20 World Cup win, finished the year with 71 wickets in the longest format at a staggering average of just 14.92.

"Test cricket has always been a format I hold close to my heart, and to be recognized on this platform is truly special. This award is not just a reflection of my individual efforts but also of the unwavering support of my teammates, coaches, and fans who continue to believe and inspire me every day," Bumrah said.

Meanwhile, India opener and vice-captain Mandhana was the shining star for the team. Her second Women's ODI Cricketer of the Year award (first one was in 2018) comes after a 747-run calendar year at an average of 57.46. She scored more hundreds and runs than any other player in 2024 to win the award.

MOHUN Bagan Super Giant edged out Bengaluru FC 1-0 to extend their lead at the top of the Indian Super League points table here on Monday.

It was an extremely cagey affair with both teams not getting enough openings in front of the goal. However, Liston Colaco's sensational volley in the 74th minute helped the hosts walk away with all three points from the crucial encounter.

With this victory, the Mariners have taken a seven-point lead (40) over FC Goa (33), who have played a game less (17) than the Mariners (18).

Bengaluru FC looked the brighter side going forward with their quick passes in an attempt to unlock the Mariners' backline.

ICC to open CT ticket sales Tuesday

DUBAI: The ICC said on Monday that the ticket sales for the Pakistan leg of next month's Champions Trophy will begin from Tuesday despite the ongoing stadium renovation work in the host nation. The venues at Karachi, Lahore and Rawalpindi are still getting readied as a January 30 deadline looms for the handover. The CT is scheduled to be held across Pakistan and Dubai.

U-19 WC: Eng book semifinal berth

KUCHING (MALAYSIA): England joined defending champions India in the semifinals of the U-19 Women's T20 World Cup with a six-wicket victory over New Zealand here. Tilly Corteen-Coleman (4/8) and Prisha Thanawala (3/19) starred with the ball, taking seven wickets between them as New Zealand went from 49 for no loss to 89 all out. England chased down the target in 11.4 overs.

SA20: Paarl beat Durban

Uzbek GM declines handshake with Vaishali, apologises later

AGENCIES @ Wijk Aan Zee (The Netherlands)

R Vaishali

GRANDMASTER Nodirbek Yakubboev's refusal to shake hands with Indian GM R Vaishali stirred up a controversy at the Tata Steel Chess Tournament before the Uzbek apologised, saying that he meant no disrespect and didn't respond to the gesture because of "religious reasons".

In a video shared by ChessBase India on social media, Vaishali can be seen extending her hand before the start of a fourth-round contest against Yakubboev, who sat down without responding to it, leaving the Indian visibly awkward.

Yakubboev, 23, who became a GM in 2019, lost the match and is currently on three points after eight rounds in the Challengers' section.

Once the short video went viral, Yakubboev posted a lengthy response on 'X' saying, he had all the respect for Vaishali and her younger brother R Praggnanandhaa but he "does not touch other women due to religious reasons." "I want to explain the situation that happened in the game with Vaishali. With all due respect to women and Indian chess players, I want to inform everyone that I do not touch other women for religious reasons," wrote Yakubboev, who is a practising Muslim.

"I respect Vaishali and her brother as the strongest chess players in India. If I have offended her with my behaviour, I apologise. I have some additional explanations: 1. Chess is not haram," Yakubboev wrote.

"I do what I need to do. I do not insist others not to shake hands with the opposite gender or for women to wear hijab or burqa. It is their business what to do," he explained.

Yakubboev said that in order to avoid such a situation in the eighth-round game against Romania's Irina Bulmaga, he informed her in advance about his religious beliefs. "Today (Sunday) I told Irina Bulmaga about it. She agreed to it. But when I came to the playing hall, the arbiters told me that I should at least do Namaste as a gesture. In the games with Divya and Vaishali I couldn't tell them about it before the game and there was an awkward situation," he added.

Another Uzbek player Nodirbek Abdusattorov is playing in the 'Open' section of the tournament.

'MY MOTHER INSTILLED A DEEP RESPECT FOR HISTORY & LITERATURE'

As the world tour celebrations kick off in B'luru today to mark the 10th anniversary of the Murty Classical Library of India, founder Rohan Murty speaks to CE about situating South Asia's literary classics within larger cultural circulations, his family's role in this ambitious project, and navigating controversies along the way

VIDYA IYENGAR

ROHAN Murty, the founder of The Murty Classical Library of India (MCLI), dreams of a future where generations of Indians grow up cherishing classical literature that reflects the richness and diversity of our country's history. It was towards this that he set up the MCLI, which will mark its 10th-year anniversary on Tuesday with an evening featuring the launch of the landmark anthology Ten Indian Classics (Harvard University Press; ₹599) and a performance by Shubha Mudgal. Ahead of the big day, Murty, son of Infosys founder NR Narayana Murthy and writer-philanthropist Sudha Murty, talks about MCLI, now overseen by an independent board of trustees and managed by Harvard University Press – with much input and contribution from him. Even as his primary focus is on building a technology company while 'balancing' his role as a father, he hopes to support philanthropic efforts that celebrate our culture and society. Excerpts

Congratulations on this milestone! What have the last 10 years been like?

By the end of 2025, the 10th year of our journey, we will have accomplished the translation of 50 volumes across 14 languages, representing over 2,500 years of classical Indian literary traditions. This achievement is thanks to the dedicated efforts of scholars from more than a dozen countries, including India, who have served as our translators. What excites me most is our tradition of releasing new volumes every January, ensuring the series remains dynamic and ever-evolving. Additionally, we've created and open-sourced the Murty Fonts – a unified family of classical Indian language fonts – for global use. It's a promising start, but there's so much more we aspire to achieve.

Do you feel that you have been able to situate South Asia's literary classics within larger cultural circulations that go beyond printed texts?

Absolutely. These books are not mere museum pieces or coffee table books. They have been adopted by universities and schools worldwide, making them subjects of teaching, discussion, and debate.

Colleagues in classics departments around the globe have shared that the series' most significant contribution has been to expand the cultural understanding of what constitutes the classics. It has challenged the notion that classical traditions are limited to the West (Greek, Latin, etc.), firmly situating South Asia's literary heritage within global discourse on classical traditions.

Ultimately, the goal is to go beyond academia and inspire everyone who wishes to explore and connect with the richness of South Asia's literary and cultural traditions.

When you started the project, you had hoped to encourage citizens of the world to engage with Indian classics and inspire Indians to connect with and celebrate their own literary heritage. Do you think you've made significant progress?

While we've made significant progress toward the first goal, there's still much work to be done for the second. It's crucial to show more people the value and relevance of these texts in shaping our cultural identity. We also need to involve more individuals from India in contributing to and engaging with these works.

Personally, the project won't feel complete unless we succeed in encouraging Indians to embrace and celebrate these books. This is, perhaps, the most important goal for me. I dream of a future where generations of Indians grow up cherishing classical literature.

What is in store at the celebration today?

We're embarking on a world tour to celebrate these books, starting in Bengaluru, followed by other Indian cities, then London, and culminating back in Cambridge on the Harvard campus. At each stop, we're hosting concerts and events that honour these works and their enduring legacy. We're also holding sessions in schools worldwide to introduce young adults to the richness of classics from this part of the world.

You mother is a seasoned writer with a deep interest in history and literature. And your father has been encouraging. Tell us what they have had to say about this project.

My father is a karmayogi, always focused on the future and how he can shape it, which means he doesn't dwell on the past and therefore isn't directly connected to this project. My mother, however, instilled in me a deep respect for history and literature, which played a significant role in sparking my interest in this endeavour, though she isn't actively involved either.

My wife, on the other hand, is a huge supporter – she reads every single book and discusses them with me in great detail. I deeply value having someone at home who engages so passionately with the series.

The challenges and controversies surrounding this project have been several, what has been your takeaway?

First, I've learned to stay focused on the core mission and keep forging ahead, trusting that as long as my intentions and desire are to contribute something meaningful to the world, the work will speak for itself. Second, I've come to understand that an effort like this – designed to endure for a hundred years – is far bigger than any individual. It will outlast all of us and that perspective has been both humbling and motivating.

What is the plan for the next 10 years?

The plan is to work through our extensive backlog of books and bring more classics to light. We aim to expand into additional eastern-Indian languages, such as Odia, Bengali, and Assamese, among others. However, to achieve this, we need the public's help in connecting us with scholars proficient in these languages who can contribute to the translations.

I sometimes wonder about the potential intersection between our work and advancements in language models. I'd like to explore how this could enhance what we do, but that's a topic for a longer discussion another day.

> These books are not mere museum pieces or coffee table books. They have been adopted by universities and schools worldwide, making them subjects of teaching, discussion, and debate... to expand the cultural understanding of what constitutes the classics

'HU'LA la

While Bengaluru has had a thriving hula hooping scene for years, enthusiasts and flow artistes in the city are giving the popular exercise a fun twist by combining it with dance and 'flow movements'

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

BRIGHTLY coloured hoops going round and round, staying afloat by the sheer rhythmic movements of someone's waist is what most people think of when they hear 'hula hooping'. But several hoopers across Bengaluru are pushing the boundaries of hooping by incorporating awe-inspiring tricks, dance moves and 'flow movements' at workshops across the city. "Hula hooping spread like wildfire during the lockdown with people looking for a fun exercise to pick up. But the dance workshops followed much later – It's not just in the waist, there are a lot of tricks that can be done 'on body' as well as 'off body'," says Nishitha KA, a flow artiste who hosts hula hoop dancing workshops. She explains, "You can use any part of your body to spin the hoop, maybe your wrist, neck, palms, knees, the foot, or hand and choreograph to any song that you want to dance to – just get into the beat and grow with it!"

'Hula hoop dancing' or 'hula hoop flow' workshops, held by hoopers and flow artistes at dance studios across the city, witness people of all ages but mostly women in their teens and 20s. Aditi Bhat, a flow artiste and founder of Spinfinity, an organisation that teaches hula hooping to kids, notes, "I get kids as young as six but also women in their 40s, a couple of men also come, and they end up having a great time. The number has definitely grown over the years as more people become aware of it and Bengaluru as a community, is very open to a lot of experiences." Nishitha attributes this popularity to social media, "Social media has the biggest hand in it. It's just so inspiring to watch people who are good at what they're doing – you think 'how are they doing it? It's so graceful and elegant', and then 'I want to learn to move like that'," she explains.

While the initial appeal might be visual, according to several instructors, participants end up forming a connection with their body, and gaining self-confidence. "I was this person that had a lot of stage fear and a lot of stiffness in my body – I feel that I was restricting myself," says Priyanka, a hula hoop enthusiast who works in Ed Tech and occasionally performs at corporate events. She continues, "I never realised that you can have ease, grace, and enjoy yourself on stage. It's given me a whole different identity and helped me build my confidence."

Beyond attending hula hooping meet-ups and workshops which have been a popular event in Bengaluru since the pandemic, 'Hoop Jam Party', has become a fun event for hoopers to socialise and build community. Supriya Srivastav, the founder of Flowshaala who organises this, says, "Instead of a workshop, we thought of throwing a party. We had a 'hoop cypher' like a friendlier version of a hip-hop cypher with two people competing with their moves. The whole community could get involved and find space to do something or the other – with performances, and fun challenges like chugging a glass of beer while hooping or a challenge where they had to tie their hair while hooping."

For beginners who want to try hula hoop dancing, Bhat recommends getting the right hoop for your height and starting with the basics. "Waist hooping is as simple as getting the right size hoop and most of your job is done. Even if you're not able to waist hoop, you can still do a lot because the world of hula hoops has so many different aspects – you can start with one hoop, go onto two (double hooping or twin hooping) and then, three or four," she says.

DHANURASANA BOLSTER UNDER HIPS (BOW POSE BOLSTER UNDER HIPS)

This is a variation of the base pose Dhanurasana (Bow Pose). This comes under the category of prone poses with a backbend. The bolster under the hips supports the body. Students can lift the upper body higher and maintain the pose. The prop allows students to stay in the pose without collapsing and the benefits of the backbend can be derived. Students hold the pose like a bow in this with the hands holding the ankles, and the shoulders rolled back. Students can use this pose to strengthen the lower back and open the torso for postural benefits.

STEPS

- Keep a bolster handy. Align the body to Bharmanasana (Table Top Pose) on the middle of the mat.
- The hands must be shoulder-width apart. The legs must be hip-width apart and perpendicular to the hips.
- Place the bolster horizontally so it touches the forearms. Inhale and bring the upper body ahead, rest the lower abdomen on the bolster.
- The lower abdomen and the upper thighs are rested on the bolster. Breathe and stay here for a few counts. The pose looks like cobra pose with legs apart and bolster under the hips with hands straight.
- Inhale. On the exhale, bend your right knee and take the right arm behind, hold the ankle, then hold the left ankle with the left palm.
- Rolling your shoulders away from the ears, bring the shoulder blades towards each other.
- Stay as per capacity. Release the pose by first releasing the palms from the ankles and resting the legs on the mat.
- Place the bolster vertically on the mat, rest and relax in Balasana Bolster (Child Pose Bolster).

LIMITATIONS

- It should be avoided by senior citizens and women during pregnancy and menstruation. Postnatal women must attempt this pose only after regaining back and pelvic strength.

BENEFITS

- Beneficial for the reproductive and urogenital systems.
- This back strengthening pose can address lower back pain.
- Aids in dealing with sciatica, piriformis syndrome and releases pelvic stiffness.
- Aids with infertility, erectile dysfunction, and lack of sexual desire.
- Stimulates the thyroid glands with the neck stretch, balancing the thyroxine hormone in the body responsible for the metabolism and joints in the body.
- Effective to treat osteoporosis, and menopausal symptoms by stretching the psoas and opening the pelvis.
- Alleviates menstrual pain but the practice should be avoided during menstruation.
- Spinal toning due to the backbend calms the nervous system and is beneficial for sleeping disorders.
- Opens the chest and the back without constriction. The bolster supports the lower body and enables an asthmatic person to stay longer in the pose and flex their back with a backbend.
- Boosts energy and is a hormone balancer for teens.
- Benefits sportspersons by enhancing the posture and increasing flexibility.
- Benefits a person who has the back strength but lacks stamina and breath endurance (people with asthma) to hold the bow pose.

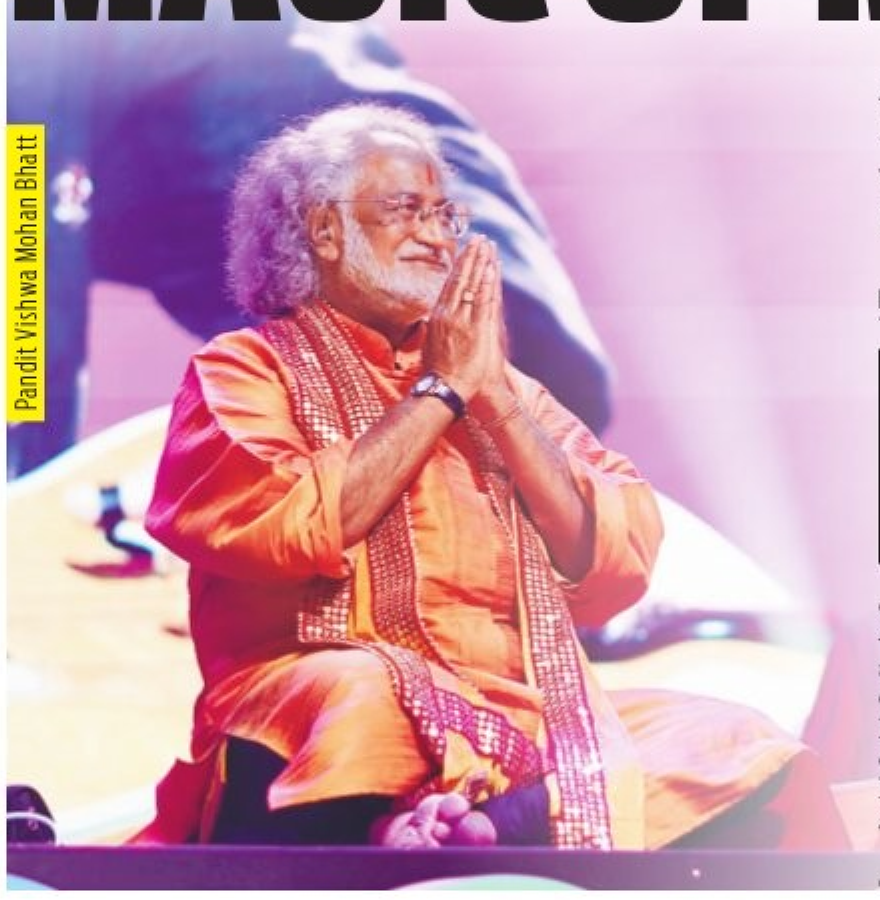
MAGIC OF MAESTROS



Pandit Vishwa Mohan Bhatt

Just ahead of Ricky Kej's Padma Shri award announcement, he came together along with award-winning musician Pandit Vishwa Mohan Bhatt in a concert to remember

ROMAL LAISRAM

THE atmosphere was electric. Many had braved Bengaluru's notorious traffic and weekday grind to gather at the southern end of the city for an event unlike any other. It was a special evening – two Grammy Award winners sharing the stage: the legendary Pandit Vishwa Mohan Bhatt and Bengaluru's very own Ricky Kej, just ahead of his prestigious Padma Shri announcement.

The concert marked the second anniversary of the Prestige Centre for Performing Arts and what better way to celebrate than with a musical extravaganza. The housefull show at the 1,000+ seat auditorium was nearly full and began a bit later than expected, following the familiar rhythm of Bengaluru Standard Time, but once it kicked off, it was clear the wait had been worth it. As always, Kej's performances began with a bang, building up to a mesmerising crescendo.

Performing fan favourites like A New Dawn, One Song and Ganga, the crowd was quickly immersed in the familiar tunes, enjoying the electric energy that seemed to pulse through the air. But it was the next set of songs that truly captivated. Cauvery, an ode to the mother river, kicked off the set; followed by Kudrat, an homage to elephants; and Jai Kisan, a stirring tribute to tribal farmers with a melody that would easily become an earworm.

Then came Kahe Sataye, a thumri from Kej's earlier albums, before the audience was treated to a magical jugalbandi between the maestro, Pandit Vishwa Mohan Bhatt and Karthik Mani, the percussionist from Kej's crew.

Next was an unprecedented cultural and folk set, something the city hadn't seen so elaborately explored at a Kej concert before. The set began with the Kannada song Banje Honamma and was followed by the viral Dub Konakkol. The journey then shifted North, with powerful renditions of Kesariya, Jugni Ji, Gud Nal Ishq Mitha and Dama Dam Mast Qalandar. The energy reached a fever pitch – with many fans rushing to the stage to dance along. Singers Sudhir Yaduvanshi and IP Singh left a lasting impression with their stellar performances – each adding their own unique style to the evening's magic.

Ricky Kej

Sudhir Yaduvanshi

The concert concluded with Bam Lahiri, Kej's latest hit, followed by the anthem Shine Your Light – a crowd favourite that has become synonymous with his concerts. The night wrapped up with a memorable rendition of the National Anthem, Jana Gana Mana, with a special twist – Pandit Vishwa Mohan Bhatt's signature instrumental version on the mohan veena. The entire team – Shraddha Ganesh, Nivedita, Srikar Athreya, Manoj George and the Bangalore String Quartet led by Simon Augustine – ensured this was a night to remember.

Love bombs, breadcrumbs, zombies...

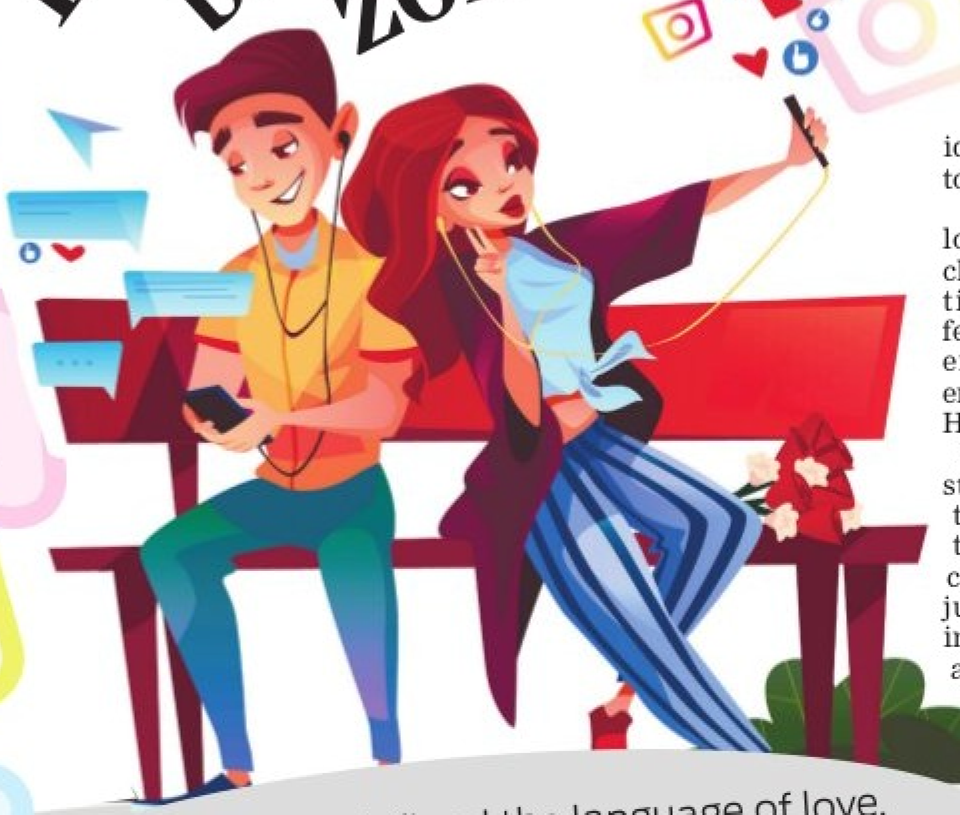
Gen Z has redefined the language of love. CE delves into the amusing world of new-gen relationship lingo

PARVANA K B

FROM the uncertain nature of 'situationships' to the hurtful silence of 'ghosting', the mind games of 'breadcrumbing', and the unexpected return of 'zombieing', modern relationship lingo is peppered with quirky terms. As older generations struggle to keep pace with this new lexicon, Gen Z's evolving language around love and 'connection' reveals much about how they perceive relationships, identity, and communication in today's world.

"Our generation's take on love has evolved alongside changing lifestyles and relationship norms. Today's love feels like a mix of old-school emotions and digital influence," says student Humayoon Hussain J A.

Meenakshi Ramesh, another student, notes, "People now use these terms to normalise certain behaviours. Actions like cheating are being casually justified by calling it 'benching', it's as if common red flags are being renamed to allow guilt-free movement from one relationship to another. This indicates a reluctance to invest in relationships. The mentality seems to be, 'If it has a term, then it's not wrong.' That's something we should be wary of. It about fitting into something 'cool' that's trending online."



DELUSIONSHIP: "A situation where you find yourself imagining someone you're not officially in a relationship with yet."

LOVE BOMBING: "It involves showering a new partner with excessive attention, gifts, and time at the beginning of a relationship. However, once the honeymoon phase ends, the love bomber often loses interest and becomes distant."

HOT-GIRL SUMMER: "Prioritising one's own happiness and having fun."

AFFORDATING: "A budget-friendly way of dating that involves choosing low-cost date activities and splitting expenses equally."

NANOSHIP: "A short-term, casual connection that's free of expectations and long-term commitment."

COOKIE JARRING: "When one pursues a relationship to have as a back-up plan or safety net, with no real love."

ZOMBIEING: "When someone who previously ghosted you reappears out of the blue, wanting to reconnect."

LOVE HAZE: "The initial stages of a relationship where you overlook red flags"

SITUATIONSHIP: "A situationship blurs the lines between friendship and commitment, lacking defined boundaries or expectations. It's that uncertain complicated space where connections grow and thrive."

GHOSTING: "Ending a relationship or communication with someone abruptly and without explanation, typically in the context of online dating or texting."

BREADCRUMBING: "Sending flirtatious but non-committal messages or signals to keep someone interested without making a serious commitment."

ROOMMATE SYNDROME: "When a romantic relationship begins to feel platonic once cohabitation begins."

BENCHING: "Keeping someone on the sidelines or in reserve as a potential romantic option, without fully committing to them or investing in the relationship."

TEXTLASHIONSHIP: "A romantic relationship based on messaging/ chatting only."

FLIRTATIONSHIP: "Casual flirting for fun, without emotional attachment."

CUSHIONING: "Having backup options, to soften the blow if a primary relationship ends."

RIZZ UP: "To attract someone's attention and make them like you in a romantic or sexual way, or to try to do this by behaving in a particular way"

THE FOUR ACES

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan

(The author is a counsellor with InnerSight)

WHAT do you think makes the difference between people who fell in love and out of it and those remained in love despite what life threw at them?

Falling in love is easy to explain – there is that sense of intense attraction that is all about the feels – overriding more mundane things like practicality, good reason, logic or anything else that is objective. It is the stuff of romance in a million epics where people find each other irresistibly attractive and put themselves through all sorts of trouble to be close. Attraction is the first big Ace in the deck. Often, nothing else is needed other than a maddening attraction to fall in love. It creates its own momentum as it were. Things happen as if by magic, the universe itself seems to conspire to bring those attracted to each other together come hail or high water. With just this one Ace in the cards we have, we could fall in love, but staying in love isn't easy with nothing else in our hands.

If attraction is the Ace of Hearts, then Affection is the Ace of Spades. It is the everyday currency of love, which brings strength and stability. We need to have plenty of it and experience it every day, but then, to even know when and how much to demonstrate affection, we need to be able to see each other, and that's the other big Ace – Attention. Think of Attention as the Ace of Diamonds. It is the insight and practical intelligence of when and on what to focus on with our partner.

It is the fourth Ace that makes the difference: Accommodation. As we grow, we are going to constantly change. Our work changes us, our needs become different. Our love needs to be able to accommodate change. We don't want our partners to become anything other than what we fell in love with, and that is often the deal breaker.

To be truly successful in love, we need all four Aces.

MY ROLE IN RAKSHASA IS IMPACTFUL AND RELATABLE: SONAL MONTEIRO

Sonal Monteiro
Prajwal Devaraj

The actor talks about her next project with director Lohith H, joining a family that celebrates art and cinema and the guiding influence of Tharun Kishore Sudhir

A SHARADHAA

ACTOR Sonal Monteiro, now married to director Tharun Kishore Sudhir, continues to balance her personal and professional lives with grace. With multiple projects in the pipeline, either nearing release or under production, Sonal is busier than ever in her acting career. Her upcoming film, Rakshasa, a time-loop science fiction directed by Lohith H, marks her first collaboration with Prajwal Devaraj and is set to be her first post-marriage release on February 26.

Speaking about Rakshasa and her role, Sonal shares, "Interestingly, the makers have chosen to start with the second part of the story, with a prequel planned next. I was instantly drawn to the subject. Lohith has a track record of portraying strong female characters through unique concepts in his previous films, and this project is no exception."

Elaborating on her character, Sonal shares, "Rakshasa is rooted in science fiction with commercial elements. Lohith's vision for the time-loop concept is fascinating, and the film features some incredible action sequences with Prajwal. My role is impactful—not about dominating the screen but about delivering relatability. The character is akin to the girl-next-door—a married woman whose life many will connect with. I'd say six out of ten women might see themselves in her. It's a de-glam role but deeply meaningful, and shooting those portions post-marriage was particularly exciting."

Sonal also expresses gratitude for her husband's guidance in her career decisions. "Before marriage, I didn't have a godfather in the industry to guide me in choosing scripts. Now, I have Tharun—a strong support system who helps me select projects that truly suit me. While I've become more selective, I'm also completing projects I signed before marriage. I took a short break, but now I'm back on set with renewed energy."

Looking ahead, Sonal is eagerly awaiting the release of Maadeva, where she stars alongside Vinod Prabhakar. "It's an intriguing subject with a fantastic combination of actors. Post-Rakshasa, I also completed shooting for Talwarpete, another project that wrapped up after my marriage. Additionally, the team of Sarojini Naidu is preparing to begin filming soon, and a couple of other projects are currently on the floors." Sonal also emphasises how blessed she feels to be part of a family that wholeheartedly celebrates cinema. "My mother-in-law's love for theatre, along with how my husband and his family cherish every aspect of cinema, has created a wonderful environment where art is truly appreciated," she concludes.

#PARU PARVATHY

....says Deepika Das as she opens up about her upcoming film, #ParuParvathy, directed by Rohit Keerthi. She shares how playing a travel influencer and blogger felt perfectly aligned with her vibrant personality.

'We all live in a hashtag-driven era'

CE FEATURES

DEEPIKA Das, who gained fame through the television serial Nagini and Bigg Boss, is set to captivate audiences with her upcoming film, #ParuParvathy, slated for release on January 31. Known for her vibrant personality and love for travel, Deepika reveals how deeply she connects with her character in the film.

"My role as a travel influencer and blogger felt natural because it was like playing myself. I just went with the flow and genuinely enjoyed the process," shares an excited Deepika. She adds, "Travel blogging is the trend today—everyone wants to explore, share, and inspire, especially the youth. My character, Payal, is not just an influencer but also a motivational speaker—a strong, independent woman I deeply admire and aspire to be."

Written and directed by Rohit Keerthi, the film follows two characters on a journey from Bangalore to the serene mountains of Uttarakhand, blending humour, introspection, and emotional depth. Deepika emphasises that #ParuParvathy is more than just a travelogue: "It's not just about the life of a traveller. There's a parallel narrative exploring family dynamics, particularly in joint families and the sacrifices made by elders. It also touches on parental pressure in a light-hearted way, making it relatable for everyone."

Deepika also promises a delightful twist with the character of Amma (mother), who brings a comical yet meaningful layer to the story. However, there's more to the title than meets the eye. "Payal, my character, has her own story with hidden layers. The true significance of #ParuParvathy will unfold as the film progresses," she reveals.

As a prominent social media influencer, Deepika understands the power of hashtags in today's world. "We live in a hashtag-driven era. It's more than just a symbol—it's a connection, a gateway to the world. One hashtag can change everything. While there is a flipside to it, our film focuses on celebrating this world. It's about life's beautiful connections," she concludes.

Sanju Weds Geetha 2 to hit theatres for a second time

CE FEATURES

IN an unexpected turn, Sanju Weds Geetha 2, directed by Nagashekar, is preparing for a rerelease just weeks after its underwhelming debut on January 17. Despite lukewarm reviews and a lacklustre response from audiences, the makers are determined to give the romantic drama another shot. This updated version will feature 20 minutes of additional content, including new comedy, emotional, and action scenes, in an effort to fill the gaps left by the original release.

The filmmakers acknowledged the constraints they faced during the initial launch. "Certain issues couldn't be resolved earlier. This updated version will include additional scenes, music tweaks, and minor reshoots to enhance the viewing experience," they stated.

The revamped version will also undergo fresh censorship before it hits the big screen again. While the rerelease date is yet to be confirmed, the team has assured us that an announcement will follow soon.

Produced by Chalavadi Kumar, with music by Sridhar V and cinematography by Satya Hegde, the film has a strong technical backing. However, the question remains: will this second chance be enough to breathe new life into a project that stumbled right out of the gate? There is a rumour that it might release on February 14, but an official announcement of the new release date is awaited.

Vinay Rajkumar's Andondittu Kaala eyes March release

CE FEATURES

SID Sriram, the soulful voice behind Kannada songs like Hayagide and Jagave Neenu Gelathiye, has lent his voice to another heartfelt track for the upcoming film Andondittu Kaala, starring Vinay Rajkumar and Aditi Prabhudeva in the lead roles, with Crazy Star Ravichandran playing a pivotal character. Set against the backdrop of the 1990s, the film reflects on timeless love, seamlessly blending two eras into one narrative.

The team has now released the film's first track, Mungaru Maleyalli Tandalley Neenilli Preethiya Munsoochane (A Hint of Love in the Monsoon). Written by Dhananjay Ranjan and sung by Sid Sriram, the song captures the essence of love against the picturesque backdrop of Thirthahalli. Choreographed by Raghu R.J., the song has already garnered attention, especially as it was launched by the Mungaru Male team. Golden Star Ganesh, director Yogaraj Bhat, and actress Pooja Gandhi released the track and extended their wishes to the team. Composed by V. Raghavendra, the song is penned by Dhananjay Ranjan. A2 Music has acquired the audio rights for a significant sum, marking this project as a milestone in Vinay Rajkumar's career, with Andondittu Kaala securing the highest price for its audio rights.

Produced by Bhuvan Suresh under the Bhuvan Movies banner, the film is directed by Keerthi Krishnappa and is aiming for a March release. Santosh Mundinamane has contributed to the dialogues and worked as the associate director, with Abhishek handling the cinematography and AR Krishna managing the editing.

The cast includes Nisha Milan, Aruna Balraj, Kaddipudi Chandru, Jagappa, Govinde Gowda, Dharmendra Aras, and Thukali Santhosh in pivotal roles. With the post-production on the right track, the makers are eyeing a March release date.

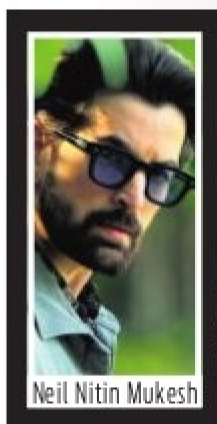
A still from the film

'DIVERSE ROLES HELP YOU STAY RELEVANT'

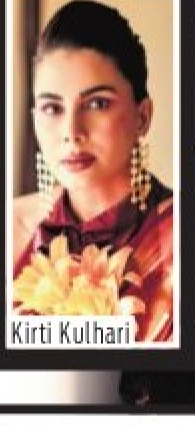
SHREYAS PANDE

IN the recently released comedy-drama Hisaab Barabar, R Madhavan plays Radhe Shyam, a sincere ticket checker in the Indian railways, who is obsessed with mathematics and numbers. He wants his accounts to be clear and his finances to be settled. So much so that when he sees a discrepancy of just Rs 27 in his bank account, Radhe rushes to the bank with a written complaint. In real life, however, Madhavan is not so good at maintaining his finances. Instead, his wife takes the lead in managing it. "I only get pocket money to spend every month," he smiles.

To play such a character, the actor had to change his body language. "I had to get rid of all the heroism in my body language for the film," he says. "I started thinking like my father to deliver the lines." His presence in the film is filled with a certain simplicity and charm. "For the role, I had to learn how it felt before I came into the industry where I was nervous about everything," he adds.



Neil Nitin Mukesh



Kirti Kulhari

Madhavan

The actor's selection of scripts in the last few years has been strikingly varied. From a railway manager reacting to a gas tragedy in The Railway Men (2023) to playing a red-eyed devil in Ajay Devgn's Shaitaan last year, Madhavan has been incorporating a distinct style with each project. He says that he chooses scripts based on what he is going through in his life at that point in time. "Sometimes, there is one scene in the script which I imagine myself doing. That becomes like a pivotal scene around which I tend to build the whole film. But there are also those occasions when none of this happens after reading the entire script," he says. It is important for him to relate with the character and the world of the film before agreeing to take it up. "If the film has a potential for me to make a homogenous character out of it, then I tend to do it." When asked if it is also important for him to know the people he is working with for a project, Madhavan says, "No. For me, the bible is the script and the intent."

Hisaab Barabar also stars Kirti Kulhari in the role of a cop and Neil Nitin Mukesh as a cunning business tycoon. Neil has earlier played negative roles right from his debut with Sriram Raghavan's neo-noir thriller Johnny Gaddaar (2007) and later in films like Players (2012) and Wazir (2016). While doing such a role, he says that it becomes helpful to not see it as a villain but understand their multiple shades. "Knowing the emotional core of the character is very important. Why is he like that? Is he a dark dirty villain or has he got a human element to him?" he says. A scene in the climax of the film has him falling on a pile of cow dung and the actor was not comfortable doing it at first. "I was afraid of what it might lead to in the age of social media memes and everything," he says. However, it was the conviction of the director Ashwni Dhir that convinced him to eventually do it. "It completed the journey of the character as he was paying for what he did. That gave me his arc."

The film was released directly on ZEE5 on January 24. For Kirti, who has worked in OTT shows and films earlier, her craft doesn't change depending on the medium. However, she feels that a direct-to-OTT release comes with a less amount of pressure as there is no box-office collection involved. "Unfortunately, theatricals are judged from the perspective of how much money it has made. And that affects the kind of work you will get in future," she says. "While on OTT, the film gets a fairer chance to be viewed and liked and disliked accordingly. Madhavan adds that a lot has changed since he first started out in the film industry when there were multiple avenues for a film to be released. He feels that the changing times have also brought a shift in how he approaches his work. "When I first started, if one film of yours was a hit, you could continue to make that kind of film for the next four years and still expect it to be a hit," he says. "It was a flavor of the season, but that is something you can't afford to do now at all." He says that he was able to do Tanu Weds Manu (2011) and Tanu Weds Manu Returns (2015) consecutively back then, but now it is necessary to shift genres. "The era of comfort is gone completely. Now, it is important to do diverse roles to stay
